Boating accident claims life

A long-weekend boating accident on Glamor Lake claimed the life of a Bowmanville man and injured one other.

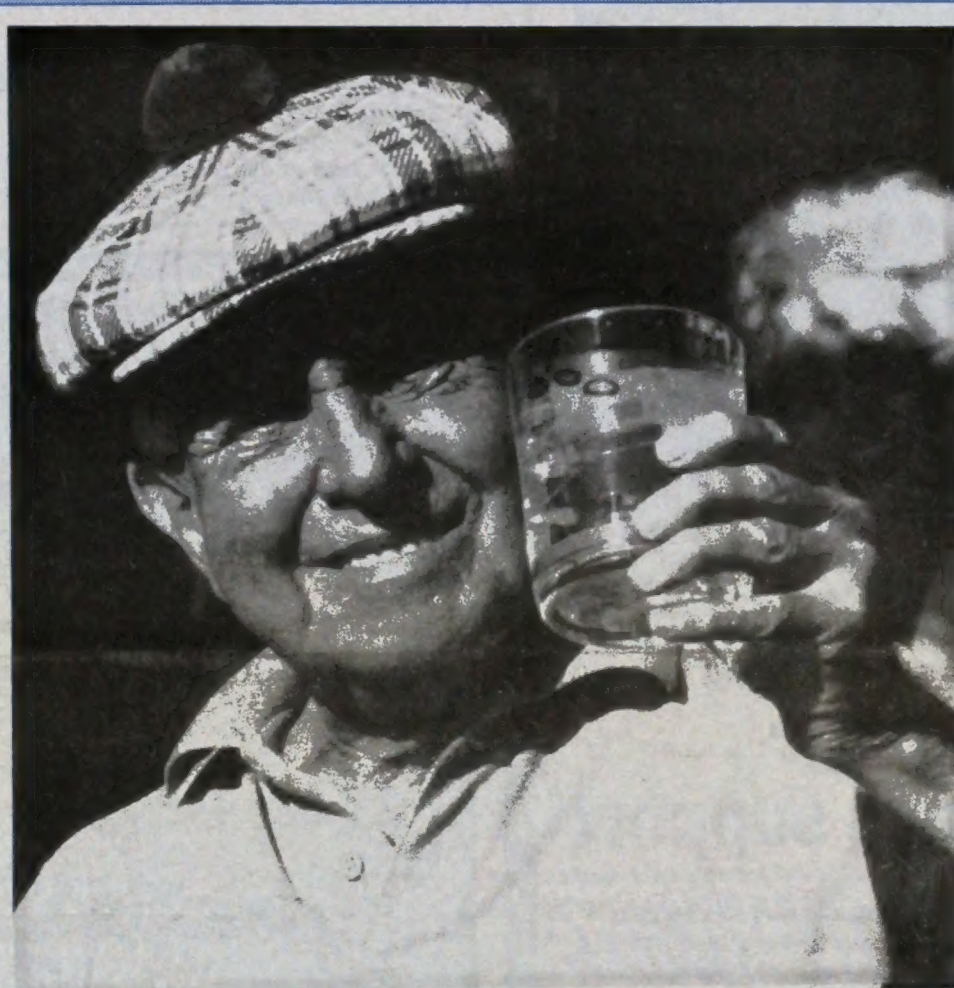

Daniel VanHemmen, age 21, was killed on July 1 after the boat he was riding in broke apart on the water. The driver of the boat, Kenneth Clement, age 32, of Oshawa was treated for minor injuries at the Haliburton Hospital and released.

The accident occurred at about 5 p.m. on Canada and VanHemmen's body was recovered by police the following day.

The accident is still under investigation by Minden OPP.

The sweet taste of victory

George Speed celebrates victory with a well-deserved drink. Speed captured the horseshoe title at Beech Lake's Sam Moore Memorial Horseshoe Tournament on the Canada Day weekend. Moore, who passed away in 1982 was Speed's brother-in-law and Speed has been trying to win the tourney for nine years.

Speed captures elusive trophy

by Carol Moffatt

It took nine years of sweat, toil and heartache, but George Speed finally succeeded. He beat the odds, the weather, the beer and his opponents, and walked away with the trophy.

Now, this isn't just any trophy, it's the Sam Moore Memorial Horseshoe Tournament trophy. Since the inception of the tournament—named after a 75-year-old man who, on the Canada Day weekend in 1982, was convinced to lay down his hammer and saw for a few hours and join in a game of the old shoes with the new neighbours—the golden egg of cottage horseshoe tourneys has eluded Speed—and several others.

What makes this trophy even more special is that Speed is 74 years old and Moore was his brother-in-law. Moore passed away later in the summer of 1982 and the next year, an official tournament was announced and a last-minute trophy (an old propeller attached to some sort of three-legged stand) was created. Since then the tourney (and the B-52 dinghy races for women only) has become an institution on Beech Lake.

This isn't just an old pick-up game of horseshoes. These are fairly serious shoes played by mostly serious men for very serious prizes. On the Sunday morning of the July long weekend (or August if the holiday falls mid-week), a table is ceremoniously placed at the edge of the pit. On the starched cloth stand the prizes: huge trophies and plaques on which names are engraved for eternity, and trophies for the winners to take home. Beside the hardware lay photo albums which capture nine years of hilarity and semi-athletic endeavour.

As well as the trophy for the winning team, there is a Ringer Award and a Leaner Award presented to the player who gets the most of each in the entire tournament. Each of these awards is also a memorial award, named after two men from RCA Lodge who died far too young and whose contributions to the tournament will not be forgotten.

The next provincial election could prove to be a wide open race

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

John Eakins' decision not to run in the upcoming provincial election will make the campaign in Victoria-Haliburton a very different affair from the last 16 years.

Local representatives from the three main parties agree that Eakins' personal popularity has played an important role in his success in the riding, and without that drawing card the Liberals will face a tougher fight than they have in the past.

"It will be a free-for-all," said Bob Dykstra, president of the local provincial Conservatives. Dykstra says Eakins' success in the past 16 years is comparable to the success enjoyed by Federal MP Bill Scott.

The Conservatives' candidate search committee has identified six possible contenders for nomination. Of those, Dykstra says two have said they will seek the nomination to run for the provincial seat. He said he doesn't want to identify any of the possible candidates until after the July 18 deadline.

Haliburton resident Art Ward, who represented the Conservatives in the last election said he is contemplating seeking the party's nomination again. Ward said he is talking to party members to gauge the level of support for his nomination and will make a decision shortly.

In order to convince the voters in Victoria-Haliburton not to vote Liberal, Dykstra said the Conservatives will focus on promises made by the Liberal government that haven't been kept and the handling of issue like Sunday shopping.

The local Liberal candidate will not be able to count on Eakins' popularity with voters to maintain their hold on the riding, says Dykstra.

But one of the Liberals hoping to replace Eakins on the ballot says some of the MPP's success will carry over to help the Liberal's new candidate.

Jim Flynn gives Eakins a lot of the credit for the Liberal's past fortunes in Victoria-Haliburton and says the Liberal candidate in the next election will inherit some of that legacy.

"Over the last 15 years a good core of supporters has been built around John," said Flynn. He said that level of support will still be there in the next election and Eakins himself will be lending support to the Liberal candidate.

"There's a lot of goodwill towards John, and a lot of it is transferrable," said Flynn.

But he concedes that the Liberal face a daunting task in trying to maintain support for the party, especially in Haliburton County where the Liberal government has been subject to criticism over issues like school accommodation, the closure of the Harcourt mill and the Haliburton Hospital expansion.

"Sure it's a challenge," says Flynn. But by dealing with the issues fairly and honestly he hopes the Liberals can overcome much of emotional ill-will that has developed.

Like Eakins, Flynn has served as Mayor of Lindsay and says he's watched Eakins over the last 25 years. He says he tries to be the same kind of politician as Eakins.

"I'm not kidding myself," said Flynn. "I know I've got a big, big job to do to convince people I can serve as well as John Eakins."

Flynn will be facing Pat O'Reilly when the Liberals pick their candidate for the election.

Cathy Vainio, a spokesman for the local New Democrats, agrees the Liberal candidate will benefit from the popularity Eakins has accrued over the years, but says that will be countered by the declining popularity of David Peterson's Liberal government.

Dennis Drainville is the only New Democrat who has announced his intention to seek the party's nomination and Vainio says Drainville has the ability to appeal to people the way Eakins does.

"Mr. Drainville is very presentable and very approachable," said Vainio. "He's the kind of person people can turn to."

Although Drainville is not as familiar to voters in the riding as either O'Reilly or Flynn, Vainio says once people get to know Drainville, his personality will be an advantage.

Another advantage for Drainville is his connection to the northern part of the riding. She says people in Haliburton County are dissatisfied with the representation from the south and feel "left out" of the riding.

Drainville can identify with issues like the Haliburton Hospital expansion and the Harcourt mill, which puts him at an advantage over a Liberal candidate, says Vainio.

The NDP will be picking their candidate tomorrow night (Tuesday) at the Dysart Community Centre in Haliburton village.

The Liberal nomination meeting will be held at St. Mary's Parish Hall in Lindsay on July 31, and the Conservative will pick their candidate on August 1 at I.E. Weldon High School in Lindsay.

Whoever runs for the provincial seat, it's clear the Liberals will be hoping to maintain the momentum that Eakins has created over the last 16 years while the Conservatives and New Democrats pin their fortunes on the hope that without Eakins the Liberals will be vulnerable Victoria-Haliburton.

Minden fireworks a tremendous display

Editor:

We are cottagers in the Minden area, and for the past three years have taken our three children to see the Canada Day fireworks at the fairgrounds.

This year friends of ours from Toronto joined us. We would all like to express our thanks and appreciation for the impressive display. It's just great that a town as small as Minden can put on such a lavish display!

Just a suggestion: I am sure most people in attendance would not mind paying something for what must be quite a costly venture. How about charging $2 or $5 per car for parking? Or passing the hat for voluntary contributions?

Thanks for a fun evening!

They know it is a good place to go and share their good and bad times. They know Pete and Marg will listen and be concerned for them.

The kids appreciate this, ask them!!!

Keep up the good work Marg and Pete.

County considers option to maintain the County Town

New proposal would have the county offices located on property near the arena

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The County's management committee is close to striking a deal with Minden council over the proposed relocation of the county offices.

Warden Don Shortreed says the management committee has presented Minden council with a proposal to locate a new county facility near the Minden arena.

Although he would not discuss specifics of the deal, Shortreed said the county is asking for five or six acres of land with an entrance from North Water Street.

He said the county's proposal is very similar to the proposal first put forward by Minden council. The two parties are meeting tomorrow (Tuesday) to iron out the details and Shortreed said if an agreement is reached, the proposal will be brought before the next meeting of County Council for approval.

"It's looking pretty good," he said. "We want to come to an arrangement where we can stay in Minden."

Minden Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry said there are still some minor points to be ironed out before the deal can be finalized. He said the two or three specific points still to be resolved shouldn't present any problems.

"I think we're going to strike a deal," said Berry. "It's like buying a house, offers are sent back and forth before a deal is reached."

Berry agrees with Shortreed that all that remains is to "fine tune" the proposal and said he hopes a deal can be finalized at tomorrow's meeting.

"I'm sure it will make the citizens of Anson, Hindon and Minden happy," said Berry, "and it will give the county a better home with water and sewer service."

Negotiations between the county and the township began after the county purchased a piece of property on Highway 121 near Allsaw Flats for the location of the new county offices.

Minden councillors approached the management committee with alternative sites within the village. Council felt Minden village was the historical seat of Haliburton County government and should remain as such.

The county plans to keep the property in Allsaw for future consideration if the deal for the village location goes through as expected.

RACE YA!: Two young spectators raced along side the rigs that were competing at the Minden Kinsmen Club's June 30 Truck Pull competition. Truckers from far and wide were at the Minden Fair grounds putting their vehicles to the test. The object of the event is to pull a weighted sled down farther than anyone else down a dirt track. The weight on the sled moves forward as the truck progresses, making it more difficult to pull.

Lutterworth facing technicalities over closure of the Steeles landfill

The Steeles dump is unofficially officially closed.

Lutterworth council has not 'formally' closed the dump and, according to the Ministry of the Environment, the site is still technically useable.

Council accepted the closure and informed the ministry of its acceptance, but according to the Terms of Reference of the closure, a formal closure must take place. Council is unsure what a formal closure consists of and intends to find out from the ministry.

Councillors wondered aloud at Tuesday's meeting if a 'formal' closure consisted of a letter, an ad in the newspaper or simply a council resolution.

The closure of the Steeles dump re-routed all metal waste to a dumpster at the Iron Mine site. Councillor Jim McMahon noted the dumpster is supposed to be emptied once a week but by late in the week, it is filled to capacity.

Local beaches still inviting to bathers

Water quality at the county's public beaches has been good so far this summer, according to the local office of the Haliburton, Kawartha Pine Ridge Health Unit.

The Health Unit has been testing water quality at the beaches on a weekly basis and Chief Public Health Inspector Bob MacNaull says no significant problems have arisen so far.

Rotary Beach in Haliburton village's Head Lake Park did experience higher than acceptable levels of fecal coliform bacteria after the flood on May 23 which washed a large amount of water from a beaver dam into the lake.

MacNaull says bacteria levels in Head Lake dropped back down into the acceptable range and no further problems have arisen.

The high readings were due to the "shock" the lake received when the water from the beaver dam poured through the village and into the lake, said MacNaull.

The Health Unit tested water quality in Grass Lake and Lake Kashagawigamog downstream from Head Lake and found no problems in those areas as a result of the flood.

High bacteria counts can arise from a variety of factors. MacNaull says heavy rainfall can cause naturally occurring bacteria to be washed from the shore into the water. Heavy use of public beaches can also result in higher than normal bacteria counts, he said.

As well, higher water temperatures are more conducive to bacteria growth so as the summer progresses, and area lakes heat up, the chances of higher bacteria counts increase.

Last summer the Health Unit only had to close one beach due to high bacteria counts. The beach is located on Wilbermere Lake and MacNaull says the Health Unit is carrying out a Sanitary Survey of the lake to try and identify sources of pollution.

The survey is similar to the Ministry of the Environment's Cottage Pollution Control Plan and involves going door-to-door around the lake and asking property owners about their sewage disposal systems, says MacNaull.

So far this summer the fecal coliform bacteria levels at the beach in Wilbermere have stayed within the accepted range.

Swimming in water which has a high bacteria count can lead to eye, ear nose and throat infections.

Results from the Health Unit's testing program are forwarded to the Ministry of the Environment which keeps tabs on problem areas.

MacNaull says Haliburton County hasn't experienced any problems in the last several years and he gives some of the credit to local cottage associations.

"We have a very large number of cottage associations that keep their members well informed and up-to-date on the ways and means to prevent contamination," he said. "That's one of the big reasons we haven't had much of a problem."

The generally good condition of lake front sewage disposal systems and the dry weather experienced in the area over the last couple of years have also contributed to the lack of high fecal coliform bacteria counts, MacNaull said.

Thieves make off with Chamber cash

The Chamber of Commerce building in Minden was broken into last Thursday morning and thieves made off with about $150 in cash.

According to police, the break-in occurred sometime between 8 a.m. and 8:30 a.m. The thieves went through the desks in the office before escaping with the money.

Chamber manager Robyn Jarvis says the necessary security precautions have been taken to try and prevent a similar incident.

The break-in is being investigated by Constable Brian Ladurantaye of the OPP's Minden detachment.

Editorial

If 18 new chronic care beds were opened at the Haliburton Hospital today, health care in this county would still be far from adequate.

Critics of the ongoing health care study seem unable to grasp this obvious fact and continue to rebuke the steering committee on long-term health care for its efforts to address the whole picture. The critics' myopic view leads them to believe 18 new beds is the ultimate remedy to our ailments, when in fact it's just a small bandage on a large wound. If 18 beds were opened today, they would be filled today and there would still be people in need.

It was disappointing when Health Minister Elinor Caplan reneged on the promised funding for the proposed Haliburton Hospital expansion and it's easy to whip up emotions by reminding people of this broken promise.

However, there is nothing to be gained by harping on the issue. We'd have thought Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis and Dysart Councillor Murray Fearrey, two of the more outspoken critics, have been involved in politics long enough to know their continued criticism can only make matters worse.

One of the main bones of contention with the steering committee is that its meetings are held behind closed doors. While we generally promote open meetings, we can understand the logic to closed meetings in this circumstance. Members of this committee are largely non-elected lay people, facing the enormous task of trying to understand everything involved in the health care and social services system. Allowing an emotionally-charged public to sit in on meetings would slow the process to a snail's pace.

It's important for this study to proceed at a good pace (the committee has been criticized for not moving fast enough for some). If open meetings hamper the progress, they should be avoided. The committee is attempting to keep the public informed of its progress by being available for interviews with the press after each of its meetings and by staging open houses.

The committee still has much work ahead to come up with recommendations for improvements to our health care system. The final recommendations may or may not be to our liking, but for now the committee is all we have to pin our hopes on.

The committee needs more of our support and less criticism.

Columnist must have it easy

"Dear Arthur: I love your column! It's the first thing I read when I pick up the paper. But I'm curious—surely it doesn't take you seven whole days to fill half a page of newsprint. What do you do for the rest of week?"

Faithful reader in Richmond

Well, Faithful, (can I call you Faith?)—you're right. It doesn't take seven whole days to write a column. Some weeks I find myself with whole spare minutes on my hands. Much of it I spend as I'm sure you do—letting in the cat and putting out the garbage, subduing dandelions on my front lawn, broken-heartedly weeding strands out of my hairbrush and wondering if I should take up crocheting toupees.

But mostly, Faith, old pal,—mostly I spend my spare time doing what I'm doing right now—sitting here, staring at the mute, accusatorial, phosphorescent glow of a blank computer screen, waiting for inspiration to strike.

Sometimes, when it's very close to deadline as it is now, I pray a little.

"I'm not asking for The Great Canadian Novel, Lord" I'll say. "Just a little notion—you know—something that could maybe fill a half page of a newspaper."

I look out my window. Nope. Wrote about looking out my windows last month.

Highlands power brokers have it all figured out

Editor:

My sometimes morning ritual took me to the Post Office on a Tuesday morning, and since the mail was not in, I parked the car alongside the river and walked to the Country Kitchen for coffee.

Wow! Seated right there in the back booth were Mr. Mover and Mr. Shaker, two of the main powerbrokers in Haliburton County, deep in conversation about the Minden Times editorial page. I slipped into a nearby seat so that, quite frankly, I could overhear their talk about some new community project in the making.

"Inspiration!? How can you be inspired by a newspaper editorial?" asked Mr. Shaker. "I know it's early in the morning," responded Mr. Mover, "but just think of the opportunity to do good for our neighbourhood. The local people are really aggravated by the ugly holes on Bobcaygeon Road, right?" Mr. Shaker nodded in agreement. "Here is our chance to help the good people of Minden by getting rid of those two eyesores," said Mr. Mover, somewhat piously. "Gee, that's great," enthused Mr. Shaker, "but since when have you worried about the people of Minden, unless you could make some money out of it?"

"Right on, old buddy. Just listen and learn." Mr. Mover lowered his voice and looked around carefully as he continued, "we lease the big holes on Bobcaygeon Road and move them to Snowdon Township near the shoreline of South Lake. The lake water will drain into the holes and, presto, we have two large swimming pools. Now, the clincher. We rent these pools to the Board of Education for kids to swim during recess and lunch break. On top of the rent, think how much money we can made out of a cold drink and hot dog stand!"

"Wait a minute," cautioned Shaker,

"what about zoning regulations and by-laws in Snowdon Township? You know that Lake Association will raise hell." "No problem," chuckled Mover. "The Reeve of Snowdon says they're broke and can't enforce their own by-laws anyway. No need to worry about that Lake Association. We have the best deal in the world. Just collect their taxes, pat them on the head and wait until October, when those cottagers have all gone south for the winter. That's the time of year when entrepreneurs like us get things done. We could get so much good local publicity from this project that it would be my ticket to a seat on Council."

By now my coffee was getting cold and I forgot to read my newspaper, but my ears were burning when the pessimistic Mr. Shaker warned his friend that the plan might not work, and he would be stuck with two large water-filled holes on South Lake.

"Don't give it a thought, old buddy," said Mover. "We will dump a few wrecked cars into the holes, add a couple of boulders with a handful of grass seed, and move on to another project." Shaker protested, "But what about the Ministry of..." "Oh, come on," Mover interrupted, "just pay the cheque and let's get some fresh air."

I walked back to the Post Office feeling really quite secure about future development and direction within Haliburton County; especially with the leadership of such visionaries as these.

Rufus comes to the rescue when all else fails

written about hangnails? Probably.)

Despairingly look down at feet.

And there it is. My inspiration. Rufus the Wonderdog. My stalwart furred amigo and staunch four-pawed companion! A last minute desperation move? Not a bit of it. Rufus is a dog worthy of a whole series of columns—if not a feature length documentary. Okay, you're not seeing him at his best right now, collapsed over my bedroom slippers, snoring with his tongue hanging out. But at least you can see his basic features. Colour: black and white, just like a Holstein (and at 85 pounds, built kinda like a Holstein, minus the horns and udder.) Breed: Australian Shepherd—or so the pet store owner seemed to mutter out of the corner of his mouth while he was counting my money.

I take it on faith that he's terrific at shepherding Australians, because he's certainly good for nothing else.

Well, not true. In times of crisis, Rufus responds like a trained member of a crack Canine Commando Corps. A knock on the door, an explosion, a raised voice, a low-flying bluebottle fly—Rufus' response is instantaneous and unquestioning. He growls, barks, then gallops directly to his owner (me) and sits on my chest.

Worse luck for me if I happen to be standing.

Other attributes? Rufus hates squirrels (though not enough to actually, you know, confront one) and has deep misgivings about any human being under the height of 36 inches. Though not precisely a coward, Rufus will never be confused with Don Cherry's Bull terrier (or with Don Cherry, come to that). He's a non-fighter. A pacifist. If he barked with a lisp I'd solder a bow tie to his collar and name him Lester B.

He has other talents that are less endearing.

He's the only dog I know who howls when he hears the National Research Council Official Time Signal.

He's the only dog I know who passes gas at the sound of Barbara McDougall's voice.

Which is why we don't watch the news much around our place.

Rufus is not what you'd call gainfully employed. In fact if the deadbeats of the world ever need a mascot, I would nominate my mutt to stand (lie) for office.

But he's cute and he loves to lick you right in the face when you need it most—and once, his sham, preposterous John Crosbie bark actually drove a flock of pesky Jehovah's Witnesses from my door.

And then of course there's the time he shuffled into my office, collapsed on my carpet slippers, looked up at me with those Uncle Tom brown eyes...

And saved my bacon, 30 minutes before deadline.

Beech lakers pitch serious shoes during popular memorial tournament

Around 10:30 a.m. players and spectators begin to mill about. Old friends are greeted and strangers are welcomed. Although they laugh and tell tales of previous years, a distinct competitive tension drifts in the air. Entry fees are paid, names are put in the hat (it's actually numbers on beer caps which are matched up) and teams are drawn at random. There are usually 25 to 30 teams.

Serious players desperately try to determine if their partners are any good while not-so-serious players hope their partners aren't the serious ones. And with the traditional screeching blast on an antique brass horn, the games begin.

There are about 35 regular attendants at the Sam Moore tourney. Most are families and neighboring cottagers to the Moore clan and the RCA Lodge clan (Runighans, Cochranes and Alushes) who host the event. There's the MacLeans, the Jeffreys, the Bergshoeffs, the Rouses and the Jennings, to name a few. Most of these families are third- and fourth-generation cottagers who have grown up together on the east edge of Beech Lake.

This is the weekend on which an empty bed cannot be found at any cottage, or for that matter, anywhere else on the lake. The tournament is open to anyone who wants to play and a sign at the fork in the road invites one and all to join in.

They arrive on foot, by car and by boat. They bring kids, dogs and lawn-chairs for this is a day-long event which, in the past, has been played late into the night, illuminated by car headlights so the players wouldn't 'lose the edge' over night.

It's a best-of-three elimination tournament. Rules are strict and a neutral party is often called in to measure questionable shoe positions. The atmosphere is much like camp. There is usually anywhere from 40 to 60 people of all ages planted on the hill watching the games. One time, several years ago, there were more than 80 people gathered for the event.

Kids swim and shout, and dogs bark. Drinks flow and laughter drifts among the echoes of ringers and the shouts of both winners and losers. As the shadows move and lengthen, the seriousness of the remaining players grows.

Cheering becomes louder as different camps encourage their favourites. Calls of encouragement reach out from the hill of spectators. Groans and applause follow the play. The only thing missing is a whispering announcer calling the play by play.

A jovial competition has sprung up between the Moores and the RCA bunch, each wanting to take the trophy home. And with the winning shout and handshakes, a communal sigh is released. Spectators stand and stretch, everyone relaxes and mingles. It's much like Wimbledon or Ascot except it's beer instead of champagne and Cheetos instead of strawberries and cream. And for some, the best part is yet to come.

At dusk, after lazy, drawn-out dinners that consist mainly of horseshoe stories and stupid jokes, everyone ambles back—from wherever they live—to the hill above the pit. Silence is called for, and one by one the trophies are awarded with pomp, circumstance and a specially-decorated cake. A thousand photos are taken and the winners always look as though they've won an Olympic medal instead of an eight-inch trophy for a semi-serious game of horseshoes.

With the sunset comes the fireworks, amateur and wonderful. A huge display is set up on the beach and set off by Mike from RCA Lodge, with a flashlight and a lighter. He generously pays for them all himself, about $250 worth. For his pyrotechnical efforts he steadfastly endures catcalls about his life insurance policy and his Will.

Clutching trophies and cake, smelling distinctly of Deep Woods Off, and undoubtedly sunburned, young and old 'ooh' and 'aah' at the spectacle. When the fireworks end, after a little mingling in the dark, small groups of people break off and head home. Losers congratulate winners, vowing vengeance next year, and winners openly accept praise, bragging greatness.

As nonchalantly as the whole day begins it comes to a close. This year, George Speed smiled long after the others, having secured both the overall winner award (with his 26-year-old partner), and the Ringer Award.

The Sam Moore Memorial Horseshoe Tournament is more than a series of games. It's a tradition which, though not nearly as old and distinguished as something like Wimbledon or Ascot, is held proud in the hearts of those to which it means the most.

Amid the laughter and the camaraderie there are fleeting thoughts of those in whose memory the games are held. It is a weekend of friends, laughter and outrageous behavior and it's a weekend that makes next year's photo album even funnier.

Past champion Brad McLean gives it his all but the trophy eluded him this year.

Lougheed elected to international council

by Carol Moffatt

It was a little like the United Nations but the sanctions they discussed dealt not with world affairs but dogs. Sled dogs.

Val Lougheed, President of the Canadian of Sleddog Sports (CFSS) recently returned from a trip to Vienna where she met with the International Olympic Committee and was elected to a special IFSS council. "It was great, and it was amazing to be around all those people from all over the world," she said.

'All those people' included representatives from Austria, Denmark, France, Germany, Italy, Norway, Switzerland and the United States. One portion of the meeting accepted Belgium, Sweden and Australia into the International Federation of Sleddog Sports (IFSS). Both Argentina and Hungary are currently being considered for acceptance and steps are being taken to see if Russia can get itself organized enough to join.

Lougheed, representing the CFSS, spent a few days touring the proposed site of the 1992 World Championship races in Bad Mitterndorf, Austria with a U.S. delegate, and both the president and vice-president of the IFSS.

Lougheed said the trail is beautiful and the residents of Bad Mitterndorf (population 3,000) treated them wonderfully. "We were really impressed with the organization of the group," she said, referring to the sports club—consisting mainly of 300 volunteers from local villages—which grooms the trails.

Because of hard work and quick organization, the CFSS lists 900 registered members throughout Canada last year. For each hundred members a country has, it gets one vote in IFSS matters with a limit of five. Only Canada, Norway, Germany and the U.S. each have the maximum five votes and Lougheed said having five votes looks great on Canada.

Lougheed is proud of the high membership Canada has, but she knows there are more mushers out there. "Lot of people run dogs on weekends, just on trap lines or for fun," she said. Getting these people to join the CFSS is what they're after. Members don't have to be professional mushers, in fact, they don't even have to own dogs.

The meeting with the IFSS covered topics such as setting up accounts and auditing, and the wording of the IFSS constitution. Members also gave sanctioning to France for pre-Olympic demonstration races in 1992 in a small town called La Rossiere.

Two dog food companies, Bianca out of Italy and Masterfeeds out of North America, made presentations to secure the spot of the official sponsor for the World Championship races. The group that chooses the sponsor consists of six elected representatives, each called a Director at Large.

Along with two Americans, a Frenchman, an Austrian and a German, Lougheed was elected to the council. Over the next year, until the next general meeting, Lougheed and the other Directors will make decisions and comments, and provide input to the IFSS about different matters that arise.

The 1991 World Championship race is supposed to be held by the U.S. but some difficulties, the details of which Lougheed didn't know, are causing problems. As an alternative, the IFSS is interested in Canada hosting the event, but Lougheed said she doesn't think there is enough time to plan it.

"It usually takes about two years to plan a World Championship race," she said. Lougheed said she plans on consulting the directors of the CFSS about the race and, even if they don't bid for the 1991 World Championship, they will bid for the 1993 race. "We'll definitely put on a World Championship race and that will help us a lot," she said.

World Championship race entrants are the best mushers from each country in the world. The event attracts an incredible amount of media, said Lougheed, which "puts Canada into a highly visible arena."

The other thing Lougheed wants to do is establish Canadian Championship races. The International Sled Dog Racing Association (ISDRA) covers both Canada and the U.S. and Lougheed feels Canada should oversee its own championship program.

The IFSS and Bianca are currently trying to organize a 5,020 km race from inside Russia to Alaska. The race is to be called 'Sebaska' and the organization of it is a huge job. "The implications of this race go beyond racing itself. It becomes social and political as well," said Lougheed.

Council foregoes planner's advice, rezones golf course

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Minden council has decided to rezone the Blairhampton Golf Course to Tourist Commercial from its current Open Space zone.

The decision was made at a special meeting last Thursday against the advice of the township's planner and despite strong objections from the Horseshoe Lake Property Owners Association.

The golf course was one of 15 properties that were dealt with at the meeting, which was held to try and correct mistakes in the township's 1986 zoning by-law.

Under the old zoning by-law, passed in 1967, both the Blairhampton and the Beaverbrook golf courses were commercially zoned.

When the new by-law was drafted in 1985, the Beaverbrook golf course retained its commercial zone but the Blairhampton course was rezoned as Open Space.

Golf courses are permitted in both zones, but the commercial designation allows for a variety of commercial developments, including resorts, not available under the open space zone.

Blairhampton owner Doug Prozak requested that his course be given the same zoning as the Beaverbrook course in order to protect the value of his property.

Horseshoe Lake association member Norm Smith appeared before council last Thursday to voice the association's objection to the commercial zoning of the golf course.

Smith said the association is not opposed to the operation of the golf course but objects to council rezoning a 180-acre parcel of land fronting on the lake to commercial.

Noting that Horseshoe Lake is a relatively small, shallow body of water, Smith said it is already highly developed. Rezoning the golf course, said Smith, leaves the whole area "ripe for a large development."

Although Prozak has said he has no intention of developing the property, Smith said Prozak "may not own the land forever."

Smith said the association is concerned that the property may be developed as a hotel or resort sometime in the future.

Minden's Chief Building Inspector, Tom Hubercheck, told Smith that regardless of the zoning any development on the property would have to follow a process which includes getting approval from the Ministry of Natural Resources, the Ministry of the Environment and the Health Unit.

Council said Open Space zoning was due to a mapping error when the by-law was drafted in 1985. They said the commercial zoning which should have included the golf course was placed to the north of the property.

But in a letter to council, municipal planner Bob Lehman says the Open Space zoning was deliberate and not a mapping error.

Lehman said that if an error was made it was in zoning Beaverbrook Golf Course as Commercial instead of Open Space the same as Blairhampton.

After Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry read aloud Lehman's letter, association member Don Stevens said the planner's concerns about zoning the course commercially were the same as the association's concerns.

Councillor Mike Maher said the different zonings for the two golf courses presented a problem for council. Although Lehman said it may have been an error to zone Beaverbrook as commercial, Maher said it would be "outrageous" to think about trying to change it to Open Space now.

"We have to be fair," said Maher. "They should both be Commercial or both be Open Space. I think the planner made a mistake and the letter won't admit it."

Reeve Ray Moore agreed that Lehman had made an error in zoning Blairhampton as Open Space and said the large portion of Commercially zoned property to the north of the golf course was probably meant for Prozak's property. "The Open Space appears to be another boo-boo," said Moore. He recommended that the golf course be zoned commercial.

The only council member who opposed the commercial zoning was Berry. He said if the golf course is zoned commercial, the public will have no input into future development plans on the property. With the Open Space zone, Berry said residents would have the chance to voice objections to any future plans that would involve rezoning the property.

In the end, Moore, Maher, Bob Sisson and Lewis Stevens all approved the commercial zoning with Berry being the only dissenter.

After the decision was made, Smith told The Times that the association's executive would decide whether or not to send the rezoning to an Ontario Municipal Board hearing.

Given the association's attitude towards the Commercial zone, Smith said he "wouldn't be surprised" if a formal objec-

Commercial zoning opens door to large-scale development

tion is filed.

In an interview with The Times on Friday, Lehman maintained his position that the Open Space designation for Blairhampton Golf Course was deliberate and not an error.

Lehman said council's decision opens the golf course property up for all sorts of developments which could have a major impact on Horseshoe Lake. "That kind of pre-zoning is not available to anyone else," said Lehman.

Pre-zoning is when a property is given a commercial designation without a specific development being presented. In his letter Lehman said the practice in Minden has been not to pre-zone. "The township has wished to see what kind and form of development is proposed before it gives its approval."

With respect to Beaverbrook's zoning, Lehman said when the new by-law was being drafted he recommended an Open Space zone for it as well, but it was the decision of the council at that time to zone the property commercial.

Lehman said a site plan will not give council total control over what kind of development is located on Prozak's property in the future.

While a site plan does spell out issues like landscaping and parking, Lehman says it doesn't control the size of the development that can be built on the property.

By rezoning the property, Lehman said council is making a commitment to allow commercial development and a resort the size of the PineStone Inn could be built on the golf course.

As for the commercially zoned property located north of the golf course, Lehman says that was probably due to an old resort or lodge that was located there at one time, an was not intended for the golf course.

"When you do a by-law for a municipality the size of Anson, Hindon and Minden, it's inevitable that there will be some mapping errors," said Lehman. In the case of Minden, Lehman said the planners had to create their own maps because there were no base maps to work from.

Only about a dozen mistakes were made in the mapping, said Lehman, and given the size of the township that is "very, very few."

"Blairhampton is not one of those mistakes," he said, "but council has the right to disagree."

Regardless of whether the Horseshoe Lake Property Owners Association files and objection or not, Lehman says the zone changes will still end up before the Ontario Municipal Board.

Because the entire zoning by-law is being sent to the OMB based on three objections, Lehman says any changes to that by-law will also be included in the hearing.

While watching all the excitement at the Minden BIA Crazy Craft race on June 30, these two young spectators decided to keep cool by wading in the river.

California Cuties to dazzle local softball fans

This Friday at 8 p.m. the California Cuties will humour, dazzle, excite and entertain their audience when they take on the local Juniors in a fundraising game at the new Minden baseball diamond.

This team of men are all natural athletes and comedians, who dress up in wild women's outfits to enhance the show and softball game.

Fifi the Flirt, Leaping Lena, Hefty Helen, Hedda Hooker and the star of the show, Madam Hilda, will present a way of playing softball like it has never been played before.

The Cuties have been together for 44 years and have played all over the world. They have entertained audiences in Japan, Canada and various cities throughout the U.S. Last season the Cuties won 120 games and lost only 8.

Fans will experience a new way of playing softball, while these characters keep the audience on the edge of their seats in anticipation of the next acrobatic pitch, funny comment or any other crazy stunt they come up with.

The Cuties feature owner, originator and top-flight comedian is Trino Palacios, who pastimes as Madam Hilda. Hilda struts 'her' stuff throughout the evening, as well as taking over mound duties during the game.

The Cuties have changed their format from a nine 'woman' roster, but still manage to cover the field well enough to win the majority of their games. They bring to the softball diamond the same talents

Area businesses gear up for new Outdoorsman show

A major new sportsman show which will highlight businesses in the Kawarthas and Haliburton Highlands, will take place in Lindsay this August.

The Central Ontario Outdoorsman Show will be held from August 17 to 19 in Lindsay's brand new $7 million Recreation Complex.

Co-ordinator of the show, David Selby, says the show will be very special and will showcase our recreational industry to thousands of tourists.

"The Haliburton Highlands and the Kawarthas are among the greatest summer recreational areas in Ontario and we are putting a show together that will promote what we have and the opportunities available", Selby says.

Selby works for the Lindsay Recreation Department as Marketing Supervisor and plans to use the New Twin-pad Complex to hold the major event.

A number of businesses in this area have already been approached about joining the show and Selby says interest has been excellent.

"There really isn't a show of this kind in the area, yet we have so much to be proud of," he says "This will be a great way to channel in the Toronto traffic flow and showcase all of our services and products all under one roof.

Canadian Tire, Sir Sandford Fleming College, Skinner's Marine, Ron's Taxidermy, Fen Fab Docks and Kennedy Sport and Tackle have already joined the show and many more have expressed interest.

Further announcements will be made regarding special guests who will be at the show and entertainment packages which will be offered on the stage.

There will also be many door prizes over the three days. For more information, please call David Selby at 324-9113.

Golfers swing to prevent stroke

On July 16 Blairhampton Golf Club will be supporting strokes of a different kind. The Haliburton chapter of the Heart and Stroke Foundation is working in conjunction with Blairhampton to raise money for its work.

good for their own hearts and well as the hearts of others.

The Haliburton chapter is relatively new, although some members of the current committee have been active in fundraising in the area for some time. More golf days are in the works, but the details are not yet available.

Beginning at 1 p.m. on the 16th, a portion of all green fees will be donated to the foundation. Anyone can play and all golfers, pseudo-golfers and just plain bad golfers are encouraged to go out do some

Hole in one

Blairhampton Golf Club has created a monster.

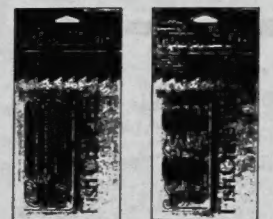

This summer's second hole in one was clubbed by Larry Oliver on June 25. Oliver and his magical 3 Wood sent the little white sphere hurtling 173 yards to the par 3 eighth hole.

Murray Kelly was a shocked witness and Oliver took home a Minden Home Hardware trophy for his feat.

150 jive to help lift jaws fund

The walls were a-shakin' last Saturday night at the Stanhope Firefighter's Hall. About 150 people turned out for the 'Jive for Jaws' 50s dance hosted by the Stanhope Recreation Committee to raise money for the Jaws for Life.

"We had them coming out of the rafters," said Recreation Committee Chairperson Thelda McGuire. The evening was filled with contests including best costume, spot dances, door prizes, Name That Tune and bubble gum blowing. A vintage 1957 (fire engine) red Cadillac sat outside the door, the owner having been convinced to attend by McGuire.

"I was at the gas station Saturday and this car drove up," McGuire said. She told the driver that with a car like that he had to go to the dance that night. Much to her surprise, he was the first one there. "We parked it right in front of the door and he was out showing his car to people all night," said McGuire.

McGuire praised the generosity of the business community around Stanhope and Minden. Contest prizes and money were donated by twenty-two businesses from all corners of the townships. McGuire presented Fire Chief Bob Nangle with a cheque for $700 to go toward the Jaws for Life fund.

Stanhope Recreation Committee Chairperson Thelda McGuire presents Fire Chief Bob Nangle with a cheque for $700 for the Jaws for Life fund. McGuire and the committee hosted a 'Jive for Jaws' 50s dance last Saturday.

McGuire said the hard work, running around and planning that went into the dance was quickly forgotten when she looked at "a room full of dancing, laughing, happy people."

The Jaws for Life is a valuable extrication system fire fighters use to remove accident victims from badly damaged cars. The cost of the system Stanhope has chosen is $18,000 and the fund currently stands at just over $6,000. Donations can be put into the bright yellow donation boxes in businesses in and around Stanhope and Minden or by contacting the fire department.

Lutterworth man angered by anti-trailer by-law

by Carol Moffatt

Lutterworth Council has quashed a local property owner's appeal to leave a trailer on his property through the summer while he clears his land.

Ron Taylor, of Orangeville, purchased six acres of land on Davis Lake Road last year. When he bought the land "it was a disaster," he said. Since then he has set about rejuvenating the land, clearing dead trees, planting saplings and generally trying to build up the woods for the future.

Taylor wants to build a house on the property when he retires but that won't be for another 12 years. He wants to spend his weekends and holidays clearing and tending his property so when retirement arrives, he will have a nice piece of land to build a house on.

Unfortunately, due to a by-law restricting the use of trailers on property, Taylor may end up having to sell the property before he can build.

Lutterworth's by-law stipulates "no truck, bus, coach, trailer or structure of any kind, other than a dwelling unit . . .

shall be used for human habitation or storage . . . whether or not the same is on wheels." The intent of this by-law was to ensure houses were built rather than allowing people to live in trailers for indefinite periods of time without proper water supplies or sewage systems.

The by-law means Taylor cannot leave his trailer on his property unless he is actually building a home, complete with building permit which is renewable every six months. He can, however, leave his trailer on a neighbour's property as long as the neighbour has a permanent home or cottage.

According to the by-law Taylor cannot use the trailer just on weekends, and he cannot even live in a tent. Taylor's objections are based on his active improvement of the land. "I'm trying to build it up. I'm replanting oaks that can be used for lumber in the future and I'm helping the environment. I don't see how I'm doing your community any harm," he said at Tuesday's council meeting.

Reeve Carol Puffer said she appre-

By-laws must apply equally for all, council says

ciates Taylor's situation, but nothing could be done. "I can't see the way around changing the by-law. If we do it for one we have to do it for everyone," she said. Councillor Maurice Boyd agreed. "We don't want to end up with a trailer camp through the entire township," he said.

Taylor's trailer has been on his property since he bought the land a year ago but Lutterworth By-law Enforcement Officer Ernie Roylance only spotted the trailer a few months ago. No one had complained about the trailer being on the land. According to Roylance, Taylor is violating the by-law and nothing can be done unless council changes it.

"The law is the law and unless council is prepared to change it, nothing can be done," said Puffer, but council members were not agreeable to making a change. Taylor said he hated to see all the work he's put into the land go to waste. "If I can't work on it I'll probably have to sell it," he said.

Taylor can't even build himself a small cabin to stay in while he clears the land because the minimum size of a building in Lutterworth is 602 square feet. "That's not a cabin, that's a small house. Why would I do that," he asked.

"I'm not paying $60 to $70 a night to stay in a motel with my wife sitting in the blackflies just because I'm crazy enough to work in them and she wants to be with me," he said. "It's personal property on my own land. That's not a hazard, that's not an environmental problem," he added.

Taylor said he intended to "go over council's head" but he did not specify who he would approach. Puffer apologized for not being able to help Taylor and said she would expect to hear from whoever Taylor planned to consult about the problem.

After the meeting, Taylor was annoyed. "I can't see their point. This upsets me very much," he said. Taylor and his neighbour Wayne Farrell are angry that Taylor must remove his trailer which sits on a small, cleared, gravel-topped spot, when an overturned schoolbus sat rusting on the same land for years.

"No one ever moved that bus even though they were told to," said Farrell. When Taylor bought the land, he and Farrell had the bus moved out themselves.

Continuing a four generation tradition, Chris Coneybeare has opened a new retail butcher outlet in downtown Minden. The bright and spacious store, can be reached from Milne Street or the walkway beside the former butcher shop, now Town and Country Travel. The community has been served in the past by his great-grandfather Harry Easton, grandfather Bill Coneybeare, and his father Cub. In addition to the usual cuts of meat The Butcher Shop caters to special orders and custom requests.

Township can't afford to fight holding yard

'I could stop Gord Lyddiatt tomorrow on his holding yard,' says Snowdon's Reeve. But taxes would jump to pay the costs.

South Lake cottagers are still in for a battle if they hope to convince Snowdon Township close down an automobile holding yard on the shore of their lake. The South Lake Association of Cottagers and Residents endorsed a resolution

SLACAR finds alternative equally distasteful

When the sawmill on South Lake shut down almost a century ago, it left a thick layer of sawdust on the bottom of the lake—a problem the local cottagers and residents are trying to resolve to this day.

With this first-hand evidence of how enduring environmental damage can be, the South Lake Association of Cottagers and Residents is not about to willingly allow a new hazard to exist within close proximity of the lake.

"We're living with a sawmill that's not existent any more," association member Ken Brown said at last Saturday's annual meeting. "It's a problem that started over 100 years ago."

Brown was objecting to a bid by Gord Lyddiatt to have some nearby property rezoned as a new site for his automobile holding yard.

Lyddiatt, who owns and operates the controversial holding yard on the shore of the lake is looking for an alternative location. His consultant, Brad Bradamore, urged the association members to support the rezoning of property at the corner of South Lake Road and Hamilton Road for this purpose.

Although the alternate site is further removed from the lake, association members are not satisfied with this option. Brown explained that the drainage from the proposed site all feeds back into the lake through a chain of culverts.

"This is a prescription for an environmental disaster," said Brown. If the yard is allowed on this new site, it will be there for ever, he warned.

Area cottagers and residents have been involved in a lengthy struggle to close up Lyddiatt's holding yard. In response to their plea, Lyddiatt hired Bradamore to help come up with a more acceptable alternative.

Unless the association goes along with the alternative location, the holding yard will stay where it is, said Bradamore.

Brown said it looks as though the association is being offered a "Hobson's Choice: Take this which is bad for you or this which is worse for you."

Snowdon Township got saddled with the dilemma of trying to find a solution to this problem when the previous council blindly entered into an informal agreement with Lyddiatt several years ago. Brown said the township was "fooled" then and suggested that entering into another agreement would be "stupid".

In his presentation to the association, Bradamore said there isn't a location in Haliburton County that doesn't drain into one of the lakes. "I realize there will be people who won't want a holding yard on South Lake, in Snowdon Township or in Haliburton County."

"I came here today to work out a solution," said Bradamore. He said he would not represent Lyddiatt in defence of the present holding yard because "I felt it shouldn't be there." However, he said he has agreed to help find a better location.

If everyone agrees not to fight the rezoning for the alternative site, Bradamore said there are several advantages to be had.

The existing site will be removed from the lake and the new site will be better controlled by means of a site plan and site specific by-law, he said. Better fencing will be installed around the new site so that stored vehicles will be out of sight, no unlicensed vehicles would be stored outside the compound, trees would be planted between the road and the fence line, and if necessary a buffer zone would be pushed up on South Lake Road with trees planted on top.

Bradamore also passed out forms to everyone at the meeting, asking for their feelings about the advantages and disadvantages of the proposed site.

Despite Bradamore's arguments, the association endorsed a resolution to fight the rezoning bid. The resolution notes that the proposed site would pose an environmental threat, violate the Tourist Commercial zoning of the surrounding area and adversely affect area property values. It also notes that agreement with the proposal would require an act of faith that could not be supported by past experience.

last Saturday demanding council enforce its cease and desist order issued a year ago to Gord Lyddiatt. However, association members also heard the township cannot afford to take this action.

"I could stop Gord Lyddiatt tomorrow on his holding yard," Snowdon Reeve George Simmons said with a burst of applause at Saturday's annual meeting. However, when the applause died down, Simmons warned: "that clapping may turn into dollars. Snowdon Township can't afford a court case."

Lyddiatt's consultant Brad Bradamore has warned that his client is prepared to fight the order and estimated it would cost the township more than $20,000 in legal fees to go to court.

While the reeve agreed the existing holding yard contravenes the Tourist Commercial zoning of the property. However, he hinted that council can't afford a court fight. "If you the tax payer are willing to spend the dollars, yes we can do this," he said.

Simmons also suggested the association or individuals could take Lyddiatt to court.

On July 11 of last year, council issued its cease and desist notice to Lyddiatt. Although the notice called on Lyddiatt to comply within 120 days, council has granted several extensions and by Saturday the deadline had been passed by 230 days.

Ray Lymer, an executive member of the association, urged his fellow members to endorse the resolution to shut down the holding yard. "Further extensions will no longer be tolerated," he said.

If council refuses to grant further extensions, Lyddiatt could face fines of up to $1,000 for each day he continues to operate the holding yard.

Simmons warned, however, that it is not clear that council would win a court battle against Lyddiatt. He said the previous council gave Lyddiatt permission to operate on his property.

Furthermore, he said the Ministry of the Environment has advised that the existence of the holding yard does not constitute a violation in regards to the environment or fisheries habitat.

Simmons said the council of the day did not understand the concept of a holding yard. He said the councillors probably thought a few wrecked cars would be held on a short-term basis.

Instead, Simmons said it is common for vehicles to be held for 90 days. He noted that one vehicle has been there for almost a year.

Councillor Al Jopling said the original verbal agreement with Lyddiatt allowed him to keep about three vehicles at a time. Simmons admitted the yard has expanded over the years. "It could be three cars, it could be 20 cars. It depends on how many accidents there are," he said.

Despite Simmons' plea, the association soundly endorsed the resolution.

Hot, dry weather keeps MNR fire crews busy

Another season of relatively hot, dry weather has kept local Ministry of Natural Resources fire crews busy battling bush and forest fires.

Tom Russell of the ministry's Haliburton Fire Centre says there have been 27 fires in the Minden District so far this summer, about the same as last summer by this time.

The area is experiencing its third straight summer of hot weather, and Russell says fire crew are a lot busier as a result.

The ministry usually calculates a 10-year average of number of fires per season, but as a result of changing weather patterns Russell says that calculation is no longer accurate.

"The 10-year average is out the window," he said.

How this summer compares to last summer in terms of numbers of fires will be determined in the next while, says Russell. "We're running about the same as last year, but the next two weeks will tell the tale."

During July the area is subject to summer thunderstorms and the number of fires started by lightening will increase.

So far this summer, 90 per cent of the fires in the Minden District have been started by humans including campfires that weren't properly extinguished, careless burning of brush and stray cigarettes or matches.

Last summer at this time, 80 per cent of fires were started by people. Russell says the percentage of fires caused by people will decrease as more fires are started by lightening.

Although several cottages and homes have been threatened by forest and bush fires this summer, none have been lost.

This is the second summer that ministry fire crews have reduced fire crews and municipal fire crews have had to increase their involvement in fighting forest fires.

Russell says there is a misconception that the province has put the responsibility of fighting fires into the hands of municipal fire departments.

He says that as far back as the 1950's, municipalities have been responsible for responding to forest fires with the ministry crews acting as back-up. In that regard, Russell says nothing has changed.

Working with reduced manpower has meant the ministry crews have had to work a little harder, but Russell says the system is working.

"It's a bigger job, but we are making it work," he said. "We have to be a little quicker and be prepared to respond in areas where we expect problems."

This year the fires have ranged in size from more than 100 acres to one-tenth of an acre, with most fires being between half-an-acre to one acre in size.

Last week there was only one fire burning in the district, near Maple Lake in Algonquin Park.

Police investigating string of break-ins at businesses in Haliburton village

The Minden Ontario Provincial Police are investigating a series of break-ins that took place in Haliburton village over the past few weeks.

The latest break-in was last Tuesday morning at Kennedy Sport and Tackle where 16 rifles were stolen.

OPP Sergeant Steve Adam said the thieves gained entry to the store by breaking through the front door. This sounded an alarm, but before police arrived the thieves had made a hasty get-away.

Other businesses that have been hit in recent weeks include Cook's Produce, the Sky Slider and Haliburton Veterinary Services.

Adam said progress has been made in the investigation into the robbery at the vet's office. He said two people were taken into custody and some of the drugs that were stolen have been recovered. is Jamie Austin, 22, of Haliburton. A young offender

Charged in this offence has also been charged.

Test your batting power

All the local heavy hitters will have a chance to beat the fence at the new Minden baseball diamond this Friday and win prizes for their efforts.

Prior to the game between the California Cuties and the local Juniors, there will be a home run derby for anyone who wants to give it a shot.

The home run derby begins at 7:15 p.m. Contestants must be at the park by 7 p.m. to register. Sluggers can bring their own pitcher to deliver the three pitches. Whoever puts the most balls out of the park is the winner.

The gates to the park open at 6:30 p.m. in preparation for the big game. The Cuties and the Juniors take to the field at 8 p.m.

The game is designed to raise funds for the Junior and Midget teams. There will also be a 50/50 draw with tickets being sold at the game.

Another event to raise money will be a car wash on Sunday, July 15 at the Minden Esso. This runs from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

It's always tempting to simply jump in the boat and go, but if you take just a moment to ensure safety, you might avert a tragedy. Remember, the minimum requirements for vessels less than 5 1/2 metres in length is one safety jacket for each person on board, two oars with rowlocks or two paddles, some type of signalling device, a class B-1 fire extinguisher if there's an inboard motor or a fixed tank, and a bailer.

Minden history unveiled during heritage walks

Local historian highlights significant landmarks during first walk

by Carol Moffatt

Behind the aluminum siding facades of Minden buildings lurks a fascinating tale of history. Tales of French explorers, ghosts, Indians and disastrous fires helped make Minden what it is today.

The first Heritage Walk took place in Minden Thursday afternoon, with local historian Leopolda Dobrzensky and pioneer Mindenite Dick Kirkwood at the helm. A party of twelve began the walk at the Bowron homestead and wound their way through the streets of Minden and along the banks of the Gull River.

Dobrzensky began the walk with a wonderful historical monologue of the discovery and settlement of Minden. Unfortunately, three huge fires in 1879, 1890 and 1942 which destroyed most of Main Street also destroyed all records, council minutes and land assessments making details scarce. But that's where Kirkwood came in handy.

Kirkwood, who will only say he is "in his eighties" is a fountain of historical knowledge. With a book of old photos under his arm he trundled through town with the group, pointing out interesting details that even the investigative skills of Dobrzensky couldn't uncover.

For every building Dobrzensky pointed out, Kirkwood had a photo of "how it was then". Comparing the 'then and now' images of how things went before is a lesson in itself. Many buildings buried under siding, additions and alterations barely resemble the proud structures they once were.

The walk includes details about Morrison's blacksmiths (now Gambell's Antiques), St. Paul's Church, Minden House, the Clergy House, a host of buildings near the corners of Newcastle and St. Germaine streets which don't even appear that old and, of course, Main St.

Dobrzensky, dressed in period costume, is a wonderful hostess with a natural passion for history and its preservation. When she speaks of Minden as it was, she speaks from the heart, with genuine interest. On Thursday, Dobrzensky maintained a running monologue of historical facts and Kirkwood provided personal stories that brought the whole picture together.

Dobrzensky currently leads a Heritage Walk through Haliburton that includes local residents dressed up as pioneers. Dobrzensky said she hopes to organize Minden's walk in much the same way. Heritage Walks leave from the Bowron Homestead on Thursdays at 1 p.m. This week, John Hulbig joins Dobrzensky for the tour.

Leo Dobrzensky, left, and Dick Kirkwood, centre, hold the attention of an interested group. Kirkwood's book is full of old photographs of what Minden used to look like. The pair hosted the first Heritage Walk in Minden Thursday and provided a wonderful combination of historical facts and personal anecdotes of Minden's past.

Trent-Severn Waterways Report

Operations along the Waterway have been normal during the past week. Water levels on the Kawartha Lakes and Rice Lake have declined gradually, to levels just above or at the maximum of their summer navigation ranges. The Otonabee River discharge has been reduced to 20 square metres per second.

Reservoir levels are at 94 per cent of full capacity as of June 25, which is 5 per cent above the 10-year average. No withdrawals of water have been made for replenishing the Kawartha Lakes.

The outlook for the next week is for more normal mid-summer conditions throughout the Waterway.

Village booms with influx of tourists on weekend

Some stores were hard pressed to handle the business

by Carol Moffatt

Business was booming in many parts of Minden on the long weekend, traditionally the busiest weekend of the summer in cottage country. But that's good news and bad news.

The Chamber of Commerce reported that 26 lodges, resorts and campgrounds were full to capacity. Eighty-two people went in to the Chamber for information and maps; twenty-one local calls and 13 in-watts (1-800) calls were placed from people looking for information.

Main St. was bustling. There were few parking spaces available even as far down South Water St. as Campbell's Flowers. Despite the rain, there was a big turnout for the Gull River raft race and the banks of the river were lined with onlookers.

Ron Gambell said he and two full time employees were "hard pressed to handle the business" he had over the weekend at his antique shop. He said business is definitely better than last year, which he attributes to tourist traffic, opening on Sundays and increased local acceptance of his shop.

Local restaurants had mixed reviews of the weekend traffic. The Austrian Village reported full tables each night although their bed and breakfast had a few empty spots. The Brown Owl, Boppa's and K & A all reported brisk business.

Boppa's cook Donna Luke said they had full staff on and they were "crazy trying to keep up" all day over the weekend. Ken Pitt of K & A figured they were about as busy as last year. "It was good in view of the slow winter. We're about on target," he said.

Michael Homestead of Homestead's Schnitzel House said they were quite busy but "not as busy as we should have been". Homestead attributed the slower business to higher interest rates and the reluctance of people to use credit cards which is a common method of payment in restaurants.

Harry Pye said his snack-bar at the Rockcliffe was busier than an average summer weekend and above average for a holiday weekend. Pye said he feels the combination of the raft race and the bad weather brought a lot of people into town.

"It will be hard to beat that weekend," he said, with the exception of the August long weekend which, because of the Heineken Yard running race, is his busiest of the entire year.

Kawartha Dairy manager Steve Crowe said the long weekend is their busiest weekend, rain or shine. "The lineups were constant all weekend and they were lined up Monday night after we were closed," he said. Crowe said he couldn't possibly estimate how many litres of ice cream they sold, but about 200 or 300 tubs of ice cream went out to retail locations on trucks Friday night alone.

However, with the good comes the bad. There were four drownings in the district over the weekend, in Cobocok, Campbellford, Peterborough and locally in Glamor Lake. An OPP spokesperson said the body of the victim in Buckhorn Lake in Peterborough has not yet been recovered and the circumstances under which the drowning occurred in Glamor Lake are under investigation.

Minden and Haliburton hospitals reported average, busy holiday weekends in the emergency department. Minden hospital saw approximately 125 people through emergency but no one was airlifted from either hospital.

OPP constable Mike Maybee said the Marine Patrol went well, but "it was a quiet weekend". He handed out the most tickets for lifejacket violations. "It's the thing people forget the most," he said.

Although he handed out fines for open alcohol in boats, he found no drunk drivers. Although this seems like a good sign, Maybee said his high visibility sends violators scurrying. "At least it gets them off the lake," he said.

The July long weekend signifies the start of the most summer traffic through town. When public schools in the cities get out for the summer, many families head up north to begin holidays on the long weekend. Business should now stay fairly constant until the August long weekend and then again on Labour Day.

Hyland Crest helps in war with flu

Mary Lou Mills, Ruth Griffith and Rheta Jones

Mary Lou Mills, Supervisor of Public Health Nursing for the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit presents Hyland Crest's acting Director of Nursing Ruth Griffith with a certificate of appreciation while Hyland Crest Administrator Rheta Jones looks on. Hyland Crest staff received the award in honour of their efforts to help the Health Unit with an Influenza Surveillance Program which ran from November to April.

The program identifies flu viruses circulating not only in Haliburton, Victoria and Northumberland counties, but also throughout Ontario, Canada and the world. The program participants include schools, industries and residential facilities in the three counties the Health Unit covers.

The program at Hyland Crest involved weekly reporting of the number of staff and residents with flu-like symptoms. In such programs, if there is a rise in the number of people who report illness or absenteeism due to flu-like symptoms, the Health Unit performs throat swabs to help determine the type of illness present.

Throat swabs and surveillance of flu symptoms by the Disease Control Centre help to determine the onset, duration and severity of flu. How viruses are spread is monitored in order to assess the effectiveness of the influenza immunization program.

Flu types are predicted each spring based on the information gathered from the previous year. Last spring the Disease Control Centre predicted the type of flu anticipated to circulate in the fall and winter. This year the flu vaccine was a perfect match for the type of flu that circulated.

Funding helps expand HCDC investments

Bill Scott, M.P. for Victoria-Haliburton, announced on behalf of Employment and Immigration Minister Barbara McDougall, that the Haliburton County Development Corporation (HCDC) will receive an additional $75,000 to expand Investment Fund activities.

"The additional $75,000 will enable the Haliburton County Development Corporation to create more permanent long-term employment by offering investment funds to the private sector," Scott said.

The HCDC, which is funded under the Canadian Jobs Strategy's Community Futures program, has been in operation since November, 1987. The Centre's mandate is to provide financial loans and consulting services to local businesses.

The demand for the services of this Business Development Centre has increased steadily in the community's private sector as the Centre has helped create new opportunities in the community.

"To date, the HCDC has helped create some 190 jobs," Scott said.

The Community Futures program, a part of the Canadian Jobs Strategy, helps communities develop and implement measures to expand employment.

Celebrating Canada Day Guilford style

Oh, Canada!

West Guilford put on a great show for Canada Day. A teen dance Friday night crowned Mr. and Miss Canada Day and Saturday the all-day party got underway. There was horseshoes, nail-driving, tug 'o war, swimming races, a flag-raising, a barbecue, cross-cut sawing competitions and a talent contest.

Above, the fantastic weather on Canada Day provided the perfect opportunity for swimmers to get a little crazy in the lake. Left, Brannon Ball and Michael Morissette show off the multitude of ribbons they each won throughout the day.

DRUNK DRIVING KILLS!

Will alcohol claim you as yet another victim of escalating statistics? Each year, the scene is the same. Friends gather together, and will have a drink or two...or three. Then it's time to go home. Whether around the block or long distance, the effect of even one drink makes you a threat to yourself and others! Reflexes become sluggish and judgement is impaired, in short, you become a potential killer as soon as you get behind that wheel. This season, if you drink, use your head. Don't drive. If a friend has one too many, encourage him to find another way home. Don't let your celebrating lead you down a dead end street...permanently!

Schools to provide drug education by 1991

Ontario school boards will be required to develop drug education policies appropriate to the communities they serve by September 1991, Education Minister Sean Conway announced last week.

Conway also released the Drug Education Policy Framework, a document that outlines the Ministry of Education's suggestions to assist school boards to develop these policies.

"Effective drug education must reach beyond the classroom to involve the wider community," Conway said. "By establishing community-based drug education policies, Ontario's school boards will strengthen their critical role in the province's anti-drug strategy."

The Drug Education Policy Framework contains suggestions for building local partnerships among teachers, parents, students, health and social service agencies and the police. The Framework also calls for developing policies sensitive to community needs in such areas as curriculum, intervention, counselling and dealing with drug-related incidents. School boards that already have drug education policies in place may use the Framework to review them.

The Framework was developed by an advisory committee chaired by Karl Kinzinger, former director of the North York Board of Education. The committee included representatives of students', teachers' and parents' associations, school board trustee and supervisory officer organizations, the Addiction Research Foundation, and the Ontario Provincial Police.

The mandatory development of school board drug education policies was recommended in the October 1988 report of the Task Force on the Use of Illegal Drugs in Ontario. Education about drugs is a key part of Ontario's anti-drug strategy, which emphasizes prevention through education, counselling and the active involvement of all sectors of the local community.

To support the provincial anti-drug strategy, the Ministry of Education has already undertaken drug education initiatives in the areas of curriculum, teacher training, and learning materials:

- * Age-appropriate drug education in Grades 4 to 10 became mandatory as part of the health education curriculum in Ontario schools in the 1989-90 school year. Students learn about the risks associated with the use of tobacco, alcohol, cannabis and cocaine.

- * Beginning in September 1991, drug education will become mandatory in Grades 1 to 3. Drug Education programs at this level will help students to develop a basic understanding of good health practices.

- * To equip teachers with the special skills and knowledge needed for effective drug education, the ministry is providing $5.2 million to school boards over the 1989-90 and 1990-91 school years for teacher training programs about drug education.

- * The ministry has distributed the ARF Drug Education Resource Directory, prepared by the Addiction Research Foundation, to schools in Ontario. The Directory lists age-appropriate films, videotapes, books, and other materials that may be used to teach students about drugs.

- * In conjunction with the Ontario Federation of School Athletic Associations, the ministry has produced a pamphlet on performance enhancing drugs such as steroids. It is expected that this will be distributed to all students in the intermediate and senior divisions (Grade 7 to 12/OACs) through teacher-coaches in the fall of 1990.

- * The ministry is preparing a guide to drug education teaching materials for Grades 4 to 6. The of this guide is expected in the fall of 1990. As well, the ministry will provide a resource document on drug education for Grades 1 to 3 in the fall of 1991, to coincide with the implementation of mandatory drug education for those grades.

"The Ontario government is committed to helping the province's schools provide students at all levels with the knowledge, values and skills they need to understand and use the principles of healthy living," Conway said. "We will continue to work with our partners in education to ensure that Ontario students have the support and self-confidence they need to make wise choices about drugs."

Did You Know?

by Doreen Hawman

The province of Ontario is now issuing a new type of Parking Permit for the disabled. The new permit is portable and available only to individuals who are medically certified as being disabled, or to companies that transport disabled persons.

The permit provides access to disabled parking spaces for any vehicle in which the permit holder is a driver or passenger and which displays the permit on a visor or the dash. The disabled person need not own or drive the motor vehicle.

Drivers who are not carrying or meeting a disabled person will no longer be able to park in spaces designated for the disabled. The permit need only be displayed when the motor vehicle occupies a disabled parking space or allowed stopping zone.

Owners of vehicles with disabled symbol plates are asked to exchange them for regular plates on their normal renewal date, or before if they wish.

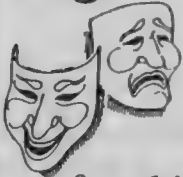

The new permit is free, but the permit holder will be responsible for any fee charged by the certifying professional.

Applications for the permit are available by contacting the Ministry of Transportation for Ontario or your nearest Information Centre.

If you require an application or need assistance completing the form, contact your nearest Information Centre. In Haliburton, the centre located in the Drag River Municipal Building Maple Ave., is open Monday to Friday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call 457-2733.

Residents of Minden and surrounding areas may contact the centre located in the Anson, Hindon and Minden Municipal Building, Milne St., open Monday and Tuesday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call 286-4100.

SPLASH: Silly sailors take to the Gull in bid to be crazy craft champs

Eight homemade "boats" took part in this year's Crazy Craft race sponsored by the Minden BIA. Glen Hall's team posted the fastest time followed by Kevin Smith's team.

The Dominion team earned the title of best dressed, Dave Howell's raft was named the most original and Wayne Dickenson's was the most decorated. The Rockcliffe team got an honourable mention.

Clockwise from top; Kevin Smith's crew puffs into second place; best seat in the house; when all else failed, some chose to swim; The Dominion team shows off their best dressed style.

Residents get to visit Bowron Homestead

Senior League

by Winnifred Barnum

Thursday was the June birthday Tea Party, the ladies from Gelert provided a lovely lunch and a beautiful birthday cake made by Dorothy McElwain. The ladies from Gelert were Isa Lee, Anna Bathe, Joyce Hills, Jean Hollobon, Ruby Francis, Joan Moor, Dorothy Milburn, Audrey Vick and Ruth Kellet. We sincerely thank these ladies for the delicious lunch. There were six birthdays in June and out of the six only Winnifred Barnum, Lola Prentice and Grace Coburn were able to attend. Thanks to the Gelert ladies and Doris who made the corsages.

There was no bingo Thursday evening. Friday was Happy Hour, Barbara Fawcett, Toos Reid and Rose Barry provided the entertainment with singing and their guitars. The residents and their visitors were served by Mary Guillemine, Don and Ellen Holden and Jankie Thomas. Thank you all. Your endeavors are greatly appreciated.

Terry took me with him to Lindsay Friday afternoon. I did a little shopping while Terry did his. I certainly enjoyed the afternoon.

Sunday, May, Roy and Jackie took me to West Guilford for the Canada Day celebrations and the School Reunion. We had our lunch at Rip's Sleepy Hollow. Wilda LaRue was at the community centre when we got there. A lot of people had brought pictures of different times at the school and of so many people we know and have known. There was a list of all the teachers who had taught there. It's so enjoyable talking to those we haven't seen for a long time. We had a barbecued beef dinner.

Sunday Pearl Lyle had her daughter-in-law Doris Lyle and grand daughter Nancy Lyle to visit and take her out for dinner. Doris came from Sundridge and Nancy from Sudbury.

The residents were invited to visit Bowron House Museum Saturday. Doris got two volunteers to take us, but I am sorry to say only Lillian Harrison went. The weather wasn't the best on Saturday. Thanks to the Museum for inviting us and the volunteer drivers for their efforts on our behalf.

Sunday night chapel service was given by Rev. John Burgess with Alice Jones playing the organ. Thanks to Rev. Burgess and Alice for having the service for the residents.

Monday morning Doris and Rheta Jones, our Administrator, were here to receive a bus for our use until the new one is completed. When the company bus was unable to meet the June 30/90 deadline, Rheta asked that they supply us with a bus until ours comes and they did. Just knowing we have a way to go if we need it helps.

There were no movies Monday night.

Tuesday morning Chapel

Service was taken by Rev. Brian Parker of Minden Anglican church. This was a communion service.

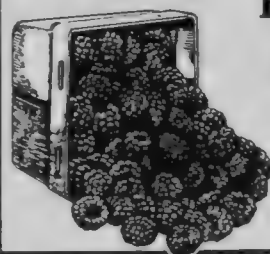

Tuesday afternoon Doris and Dorothy Milne took a bus load of residents for a trip. We went to Haliburton, West Guilford, down the North side of Grass Lake, Maple Lake, Beech Lake to Highway 25 and home after we stopped at Kawartha Dairy for our ice cream cones. The Dairy wouldn't charge us as it was our first trip and we thank them sincerely. Needless to say we were happy to have the bus. This one is smaller than the one ordered. It should be here by the end of next week and its hard to believe. We will never be able to thank everyone who worked so hard to help Hyland Crest Bus Fund.

Wednesday Mrs. Isabella Eastman had her niece's husband and his daughter to visit her and they had lunch in the tuck shop with her.

We have two new residents this week, Nora Groves and Ellen Bastien. We welcome them and hope they will be happy here.

Everett Fairey came to sing and play his guitar in the main lounge. Thank you very much Everett.

WHERE EVERYONE IS SOMEONE AND JESUS CHRIST IS LORD!

Around the County Town

by Mary Scott (call 286-1104)

Unfortunately The Times made layout errors in last week's column. The two following items are the correct versions.

July birthday wishes are extended to the following Hyland Crest residents: Pearl Lyle 5th, Lillian James 15th, Marie McPhail 17th, Isabella Gardner 25th and Vera Archer 25th. Best wishes to you all.

The Stanhope Summer Bridge was held on June 26th, with six tables playing with the following winners: 1st - Claudia Watters, 2nd - Betty Culley and 3rd - Thelda Weston. Next bridge will be Tuesday, July 3rd, at 1 p.m. at the Stanhope Fire Hall. Everyone welcome.

Wheels to Meals Luncheon and Euchre was held at the Minden Legion with the following winners: Door prize - Lorna Bridgman, high lady - Lil Martin, high man - Willard Bridgman, lone hands - Vera Ward, low hand - Ruby Schmidt. Next luncheon and Euchre will be Tuesday, July 17. Call Muriel Proctor at 286-2733 or Nelda Yakeley at 286-2872.

The 'Maple Lake Fisherman strikes again'. On July 3, Bill Milford caught a 16 lb. lake trout in Maple Lake. A nice 42nd wedding anniversary surprise.

The Kinmount Legion 50/50 draw on June 30 was won by Dot Speirs and she is $162 richer. The Kinmount Colour Party was at the Canada Day Parade in Bobcaygeon but unfortunately the weather did not co-operate.

The winner of the Rotary Mega Bingo of $2000 was Rose Humphrey. Congratulations Rose!

Florence Robinson had a very nice visit last Thursday from Les and Minnie Robinson from Lindsay.

Mr. and Mrs. Wally Brown of Lochlin and Mr. and Mrs. Stan Brown and Teresa Brown and Mrs. Lloyd Swanton of Kinmount and Mr. and Mrs. John Cummins of Lindsay, and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Tracey and boys from Bethany and cousins from Cameron gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes in Lindsay to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the families and friends of John Down, Charles Elwood, Steve Kuni and Charlotte Fry.

Club 35 Euchre Winners July 2, 1990

50-50 - Harvey Partner, lone hands - Murray MacKinnon, high lady - Olive Jones, high man - Murray Daniels, other winners were June Alsop, Ken Campbell and Mary Kernohan.

Winner of the grocery hamper at Saturday's yard sale was F. Wilbourn from Little Hawk.

Many topics touched at Staannworth June meeting

"May God bless Canada — it's a country worth working for."

H.R.H. Queen Elizabeth II, July 1, 1990
Ottawa, Canada
* * *

Our June Meeting was very successful. Items of concern were: Barbecue will begin very soon, new chairs will be bought for our outdoor patio, no plants must be hung from the patio. Barbara S. informed us that on June 14, Trent Security System will be checking all alarms in each apartment. Our president, Holly, adjourned the meeting with the hope of gathering again in September.

This week our barbecue was highlighted by sharing a toast with, and to, Sylvia H. who was quite successful in qualifying for her driver's licence, and sharing a belated birthday gift. Mark Vasey proposed the toast and we all agreed, "You are very special, Sylvia". Then it was on to the hamburgers already grilled for us by our good-natured 'Cook' Len Trodd.

Congratulations are in order to Fern and Bill Donnelly on the occasion of their 40th wedding anniversary. May your hearts be always young.

Many happy birthday wishes go out to Emily Poole and Harry Cowan. May your tomorrows be healthy and happy ones.

Our warmest get well wishes go out to Jean Cowan. Speedy recovery, Jean!

Many thanks to Sylvia for the lovely umbrella for our patio table.

We, Sylvia H., Carrie V., Marg H., Fern D., Doris M., Doris F., Mabel T. and Marion F., recently visited Hyland Crest and enjoyed having Tea and Strawberry Shortcake with the residents. So nice to see Jean Taylor looking so well. (Jean was a former resident at Staannworth.)

On June 8, Siiri M. and Marg H. attended the 10th anniversary celebration of the Home Support Services held in Pinestone Inn. After a delicious dinner, we were entertained by the Sr. Linedancers. Then Elsie Bursey from Staannworth Terrace, was asked to introduce the Guest Speakers - our members of parliament, other dignitaries, among whom was Doris Chann. Doris had worked with Home Support Services in Toronto. In 1979, she moved into this area and offered her expertise and was able to organize a number of volunteers to form the Haliburton County Home Support Services. The new Horizons Grant made it possible for many programs to be instituted, such as Meals on Wheels, Wheels to Meals, Home Help, transportation, etc., for seniors.

When Marie Wallace retired as original Co-ordinator, Donna Pacey was appointed as Executive

Co-ordinator. With her very capable staff, they have made it possible to meet through their dedication, the many services that we, as seniors, have already come to experience. The afternoon entertainment closed with each one going their separate ways, knowing that we are very privileged to have these services available to parts of our County.

Now, until September, "May one and all enjoy our beautiful Highlands. Take part in its Picnics, Barbecues, and Strawberry Suppers. FOOD tastes so good when shared regardless of what the mirror may try to warn you for.

People aren't really fat Which should come as no surprise.

It's just that some folks come In the large economy size.

Have a safe summer. Be happy. M.H.

Hi Kids!
Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally.

They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

More pressure needed to convince politicians

To the question "What can I do?" the answer is often "Write to your MP." A cynic might retort "What good does that do?" Of course, the prime minister or cabinet members don't read and answer all of their mail, but letters they receive are a barometer of public sentiment.

And the most important value of writing politicians is to inform the writer about the gap between political rhetoric, understanding and action.

Amanda McConnell is an organizer of Grassroots Albany, an environmental action group in Toronto. One of its goals is to enter into a serious and ongoing dialogue with politicians at all levels of government.

McConnell is concerned about global warming through the burning of fossil fuels and she wrote Brian Mulroney:

"... reports from environmental scientists have made me realize that there are no other issues more important than the future of the planet we live on... As prime minister... you have some very simple choices ahead of you... If you are concerned... about the impending environmental crisis, you will put an end to all petroleum based projects - exploration and exploitation. You will put the money you have saved into alternative energy sources: research and development... you will impose strict,

Reflections

by David Suzuki

large penalties against all petroleum-based products that create garbage and do not improve our lives... You have children - do it for them if not for all of us."

The PM's office replied: "You are quite right to be concerned over the state of the environment, a concern that I share... As caretakers of this planet with a solemn responsibility to provide a healthy and safe future." The letter agreed that Canadians expect "leadership" from the government and included a copy of Mr. Mulroney's acceptance speech of an environmental award in Washington.

McConnell wrote back: "The environment problem is beyond awards and speeches. It requires immediate action... if you have a solemn responsibility... to provide a safe and healthy future for generations to come, why are you not acting on this responsibility?... I give you one example... how is that in 1988 you allocated $5 billion in subsidies to Hibernia, Oslo, Lloydminster upgrader and other non-renewable, fossil fuel projects? In the same year you cancelled the $500 million budget of the conservation and renewable energy division."

This letter was answered by Jake Epp, the minister of energy, mines and resources who had already stated in Calgary that jobs and profit must come before the environment. Here is part of Epp's response:

"The Government of Canada is committed to the goal of maintaining and enhancing environmental quality, both within Canada and internationally. We attach a high priority to ensuring that environmental considerations are taken fully into account in the public process." It sounds good, but then he continues: "The issue of global warming is extremely complex... many uncertainties remain concerning the magnitude and timing of global warming... a major reduction in CO2 emissions would cause significant economic dislocation and would require substantial changes in lifestyle."

Of course, but if global warming occurs, it will completely destroy the economy and our lifestyles and send us scrambling just to survive.

Epp goes on to say that "the promotion of energy efficiency and alternative energy remains an important element of Canadian energy policy" citing as proof a $40-million annual budget, a pittance

"QUALITY LEGAL AND FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE FOR LESS"

Changes to Election Act introduced

Municipal Affairs Minister John Sweeney has introduced changes to the Municipal Elections Act to restrict election contributions and the use of surplus campaign funds.

The legislation will also make it easier for electors to have alleged campaign financing irregularities investigated.

The changes require that a candidate's surplus campaign funds be held in trust by the municipal clerk for use during the next municipal election or applied against past election debts. The amendments place a limit of $5,000 on the total amount a contributor can give to all candidates for a single municipality of school board.

The legislation also includes a new enforcement system. Currently, individual electors must take legal action if they believe the law has been broken. Under the new system, the municipality or school board will be responsible for acting on a complaint from an elector. If the municipality or school board fails to take appropriate action, the provincial Commission on Election Finances can intervene.

"After the 1988 municipal elections there was criticism about how some candidates used their left-over campaign funds," Mr. Sweeney said. "Since then we have consulted with the Association of Municipal Clerks and Treasurers. I believe the changes I am introducing will help remedy the problem."

"The election process is at the very heart of our democratic system, and it is therefore extremely important for people to have faith in it," he said. "The changes I am introducing are intended to reassure people that their representatives are acting in the public's best interest at all times."

The legislation includes a number of other amendments including changes to allow municipalities to provide election information in languages other than English and French, and to provide an alternative form of ballot for the benefit of visually impaired electors. It also changes the rules on proxy voting to help prevent abuse of the system.

Reeves will be called Mayors in the future

Municipal Affairs Minister John Sweeney has introduced legislation that would make Ontario's county system easier to understand and more accountable.

"While counties across the province are reviewing their structures, I am proceeding with several changes that have been endorsed by the Association of Municipalities of Ontario," Mr. Sweeney said.

The legislation specifies that the title 'warden' officially becomes 'county warden' and allows county council to extend the county warden's term from one to three years.

The municipal heads of council who used to be called 'reeve' will now be called 'mayor', and all mayors, including town mayors, will sit on county council. This clarifies responsibility as the head of each municipality within the county will be the municipality's main voice on county council. Other representa-

Leaders miss gravity of the crisis

when compared with the multi-billion-dollar commitments for oil and gas exploration. And a government report concluded that a $74-billion investment in alternate energy and conservation could yield a net savings of over $100 billion over the next 15 years.

What environmentally committed and cost-conscious government would ignore the opportunity to make large amounts of money and be environmentally responsible?

Nevertheless, Epp stands by the oil megaprojects: "The government has supported large oil projects because of their significant regional and national economic benefits."

No critic of oil megaprojects suggests that the money should not go to needy regions, only that they ought to be directed to environmentally sound investments.

Global warming could destroy civilization as we know it, yet Epp concludes "this support is fully consistent with the government's commitment to environmental protection."

The letters reveal that politicians can espouse contradictory ideas without any sense of cognitive dissonance - our leaders simply do not understand the gravity nor the immediacy of the environment crisis.

Every election from now on must drive that home to political candidates. Meanwhile, keep writing and see for yourself.

Report suggests need for more hospitality training

There is a strong need for more training in the hospitality industry, according to a report released by the Ministry of Skills Development.

The report, 'Human Resource and Training Needs in Ontario's Hospitality Industry' was based on interviews with industry, labour and education experts; a mail survey sent to thousands of Ontario businesses; and a number of employee focus groups. It was sponsored by the Ministries of Skills Development, Tourism and Recreation, and Colleges and Universities.

"This report indicates that both employers and employees benefit from on-the-job training. Those employers in the hospitality sector who offer skills training courses significantly reduced staff turnover in their places of work," said Skills and Development Minister Sean Conway.

"Our ministry is continuing to take steps to address the importance of training employees in the hospitality industry," said Tourism and Recreation Minister Ken Black.

According to the report, training is needed in such vital areas as safety, customer service and human resource management.

The major problem identified by the report is attracting people with the right kind of skills and re-training them once they are hired. Better human resource management is seen as the key to improving this situation.

The report indicates that employers who invest in training find it successful in reducing staff turnover, in some cases from 250 per cent to below 30 per cent a year.

Another problem facing the industry is a continuing shortage of labor—particularly in the case of chefs and cooks.

Reeve's title is replaced

tives on county council will be called 'county councillors'.

The legislation clarifies that another member of council may not substitute for a mayor at county council except under very specific circumstances.

The changes are to be in effect for next year's municipal elections.

'Community' is the key word for small hospitals

The following is taken from an article written by Alexander M. Adams. The story appeared in the spring issue of 'Vision', a magazine put out by the Ontario Hospital Association.

If there are any answers at all to be found to questions about the pasts, concerns, successes and futures of small community hospitals, they are to be found in the keyword "community".

Communities gave birth to small hospitals, communities sustain them, and communities ensure their preservation. Small hospitals could not survive without this solid base of support.

There are 198 public general hospitals in Ontario, of which 68 or 34.7 per cent have fewer than 75 beds. Their sizes range from 9 beds to 72, and their beginnings are as varied as the communities they serve. Some were built by residents, others as private hospitals funded by an individual or religious sect, while many others were built with grants from service clubs or government.

Since Mattawa General—the oldest registered small hospital—opened its doors in 1878, community hospitals have grown in number, becoming the backbone of rural Ontario's medical system.

Amalgamated with St. Joseph's General Hospital, Peterborough.

"The budget will be severely strained to satisfy pay equity, the Employee Health Tax, WHMIS and the GST."

"Our population of 5,000 is mostly elderly as the area is a retirement one. We are also part of vacation land, so the population triples during the summer months," says Nursing Administrator Jean Anderson.

"This creates real staffing problems as we have great fluctuations in activity level. We seem to be either empty or full, and that is difficult for staff to deal with. The hospital is unable to rely on people to help out during peak periods and the responsibility load during those times is just too much for our permanent staff. This becomes critical during an emergency, and for us 3-4 people is a mini-disaster."

"I think the reason we have staffing problems is because people come up here to change their lifestyles, have more time to themselves. They are choosier. Minden cannot offer many full-time jobs and erratic, occasional work is not appealing to many."

Fortunately Minden has permanent physicians in the area and the hospital is able to call on their services. The closest larger hospitals are Lindsay and Huntsville—about fifty miles away. In trauma situations, the hospital uses the trauma hotline program, stabilizes the patient and then transfers them by ambulance or helicopter.

Being so small, Minden is especially concerned about recent government legislation that is impacting on its finances. "The budget will be severely strained to satisfy pay equity, the Employee Health Tax, WHMIS and the GST. I will probably have to take away dollars from maintenance programs. It doesn't take much to impact on my budget—one or two people sick and the effect is really bad."

Mrs. Anderson doesn't see Minden hospital being closed down. "It may change and we do have a need for a new facility, perhaps one that is located in the centre of the county. We need first class emergency services plus consultancy services for psychology and physiotherapy.

"Government says it wants to keep people in home areas as much as possible using the resources presently available. If this is the case we need to consolidate services, put aside individuality and develop a communal approach to health-care. We certainly cannot continue as we are. However, communities are very protective of their hospitals. Politically, government can't tamper with them."

Horseshoe Lake cottagers address key topics

by Fran Smith

The Horseshoe Lake Property Owners' Association Inc. held their annual meeting on Saturday, June 23, 1990 at the Minden Wild Water clubhouse at 10 a.m.

There was a good turnout of members and Vern Gilbert, the president, indicated the important issues. He reminded the group that the individual property owners must make arrangements with the MNR regarding spraying for gypsy moth.

Vern and other executive members recently attended a meeting with council regarding the proposed parkland/boat launch. The association requested that council thoroughly investigate the seven publicly-owned properties on our lake before reaching a final decision. A question was raised about the availability of public washrooms and it was pointed out that the Parks Committee has only $7,000 to spend on this development.

Vern has received a number of complaints from our members regarding speeding boats on our lake and the concern that a major accident may one day take place because of this. The membership was also requested to volunteer to attend one council meeting throughout the year.

A sheet was distributed and we thank our members for offering their time. HSLPOA would like local organizations and groups to send us literature about their events and we shall pass this information to our members at our annual meeting held each June.

Jerry Strickland, our guest speaker from FOCA, updated our membership regarding the use of our waterways by the Trent Severn group. There has been a lot of press regarding this matter over the years and the use of our waterways is determined by the old 1905 "Order In Council".

We were pleased to hear another public awareness meeting is scheduled for Friday, September 28, 1990 from noon to 5 p.m. at the Haliburton Legion. He also urged us to "turn on the heat" by writing letters to MP W. Scott, MPP J. Eakins and Lyn McLeod the current provincial minister of MNR.

He reported on the formation of the new group, Trent Severn Reservoir Lakes, and Norm Smith from HSL is a member of this group. Before closing, Jerry mentioned a new brochure that FOCA will be publishing regarding recreational boating and cautioned us to be on the alert for mussels in our lake.

The various committees presented their reports. Our treasury is now healthy again thanks to our increase from $5 to $10 last year for membership. Our numbers are extremely healthy and our annual, May 24, door-to-door canvass seems to be producing excellent results for membership. There is a full list of social activities scheduled for this summer. Our members are requested to contact the organizers of the family picnic, rock bass fishing derby, golf tournament and wine and cheese if they are able to donate their time or prizes.

The current executive of H.S.L. were voted into office once again except for Isabelle Heaven, social director. Vern thanked Isabelle for her fine efforts on our behalf and presented her with a small gift. Vern also reported that the new renumbering system for our lake is now complete and this is the last opportunity for members to order individual signs through him. This has been a costly but very worthwhile endeavour for our association.

Under new business, the rezoning of the Blairhamp-ton Golf Course was then discussed at some length. Vern read the descriptions of the various zoning codes (C4, Rural, etc.) and then asked that Doug Prozak, the golf course owner, speak to our group. Doug explained that when he purchased this property in 1987 he understood that it was zoned RCA (commercial) and not 'Open Space' according to the Official Plan. We were somewhat surprised to learn that the 1986 Official Plan has not been formally approved by the O.M.B. It was decided to form a committee to look into this rezoning matter and it was pointed out that council are dealing with these parcels of land at a meeting on Thursday, July 5, 1990.

MOE grants Stanhope 46,500 for waste study

The Township of Stanhope has been allocated $46,500 to assist with establishment of waste management facilities, John Eakins, MPP Victoria-Haliburton announced on behalf of Ontario Environment Minister Jim Bradley.

The Financial Assistance Program is intended to aid municipalities in expanding existing landfill sites and establishing new facilities, transfer stations and processing facilities in an environmentally sound manner.

These funds will be used for such work as hydro-ecological studies, public consultation and design, construction and decommissioning of waste management facilities.

"I am pleased that the province has been able to assist the Township of Stanhope with this important project", Eakins said.

Home Support celebrates tenth anniversary

On Friday, June 8, the President, Adele Barnes, welcomed over 100 people at a luncheon held at the Pinestone Inn and Country Club to celebrate the 10th Anniversary of Haliburton County Home Support Services.

Elsie Bursey, one of the original founders and longest serving Volunteer Board representative introduced the guests who were: Bill Scott, M.P., John Eakins, M.P.P., John Poch, Manager of Adult Services, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Peterborough Area, and Doris McCann, Founder of Haliburton County Home Support Services. These persons brought greetings and commended HCHSS on their excellent achievement in serving the seniors and handicapped of the area.

Doris McCann, the first President and Founder of HCHSS spoke on her recent trip to the Orient reminding us that although these countries have few of our conveniences, the people have very little stress. Food for thought.

A plaque was presented to Jean Hollobon on behalf of her late husband Bob Hollobon for his outstanding volunteer work.

Haliburton County Home Support Services' own line dancers entertained with six lively dances, spreading the message of good fun, great exercise and inviting all to join them Thursday mornings at St. George's Anglican Church in Haliburton.

A 10th Anniversary is a great time to remember with appreciation, the 10 founding members for their foresight and inspiration. It is also an opportunity to look ahead to challenging and exciting times.

Special thanks is extended to Executive Members, Board of Directors, staff and all the 205 volunteers who unselfishly give of their time to ensure that Haliburton County Home Support Services' programs are carried out.

Two new exhibitors at the Rails' End Gallery

by Holly G. Hutchison

Two new exhibitions have opened at the Rails' End Gallery: Mirage: Clay Vessels by Ingrid Nicolai and Masters of Their Craft.

The exploration of dimensions by artist and potter Ingrid Nicolai, has resulted in illusions which oscillate between the second and their dimension; described as a direct contradiction to the three dimensional characteristic of the medium of clay, therefore Mirage.

By beginning with the simple beauty of Minoan urns, Nicolai has stretched squashed and pushed our visual boundaries, challenging our perceptions of space and volume. She has striven for visual flatness. By giving the pot little identity, except at its edges, enhancing the silhouette, she has optically created a two dimensional/three dimensional object. The colours Nicolai has chosen (sea greens and blues, with accents of red at the vessel rim) clarify the simplicity of the shapes and emphasize the relationship of positive and negative space; the foreground, the background; elements of the second dimension. At the same time, the flat colour (tones which indicate light and shadow) playfully pulls the eye to restore the pot to the third dimension.

Almost like animated characters, Nicolai's vessels are "witty allusions to the human body in a fleshy, broad-bellied kind of way". They are two dimensional sculptural pieces with volume, with vivid individual personalities, shivering with sensuous life energy.

On Saturday, August 4 an Artist's Reception will be held, giving the public a chance to meet Ingrid Nicolai. She will be in attendance between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m.

The energy, excitement and success of the Haliburton School of Fine Arts continues to entice over 2,000 students of art and craft to enthusiastically enroll for classes, thereby participating in the school's twenty-third consecutive year of operation. One of many reasons for the success of the Haliburton School of Arts are the instructors; all outstanding artists and crafts-people who skillfully offer their wealth of knowledge.

Masters of Their Craft is an exhibition reflecting the eclectic range of talent, insight, expression and interests of these instructors; some of Canada's most celebrated artists. Works include brass and sterling jewellery by Paula and Michael Letki, bookbinding by Don Taylor, clay relief by Richard Gill and many more pieces in many different mediums.

Masters of Their Craft is a combination of the energies of artists; their teaching, their learning; their exchange of ideas, of skills; their experience of our visual world.

The Rails' End Gallery is housed in the old CNR station on York Street, adjacent to Head Lake Park in Haliburton.

Summer hours: Monday to Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday noon to 4 p.m.

Tories boast strong employment record

Report from Ottawa

With Bill Scott, MP

Since September 1984, 1,598,000 jobs have been created. As well, jobs have been created at an average rate of 23,500 a month.

More jobs were created in Canada between 1984 and 1988 than in the following countries put together: West Germany, Austria, France, Sweden, Belgium, Greece, Finland, Ireland and New Zealand.

The unemployment rate has fallen by four percentage points since September 1984 to 7.6 percent in May 1990. The number of unemployed has fallen by 414,000 since September 1984.

Eighty-five percent of the jobs created by the Progressive Conservative Government are full-time.

The youth unemployment rate has fallen by 6.2 percentage points, from 18.2 percent in September 1984 to 12 percent in May 1990. Total youth unemployment has fallen by 212,000 since September 1984.

There are 978,000 more women working today than in September 1984. Jobs for women account for 61 percent of the total jobs created since the Progressive Conservative Government came to office. The unemployment rate for women has fallen by 4.2 percentage points, from 11.9 percent in September 1984 to 7.7 percent in May 1990. The number of unemployed women has fallen by 159,000 since September 1984. Between 1984 and 1988, the number of women working in managerial and administrative positions climbed by 50 percent. Managerial and administrative positions accounted for one-quarter of the jobs created for women between 1984 and 1988.

Employment has risen in every province since September 1984. In Atlantic Canada, we have been creating jobs at an average rate of 1,632 a month for a total of 111,000 since September 1984.

The Progressive Conservative Government's job creation rate in Quebec is 5,588 a month for a total of 380,000. The Quebec unemployment rate is 9.3 percent (May 1990), a drop of 3.7 percent percentage points from September 1984. 657,000 jobs have been created in Ontario since September 1984, an average of 9,662 jobs a month.

In the Prairie provinces, 173,000 jobs have been created since September 1984, an average of 2,544 jobs a month. Since September 1984, 263,000 jobs have been created in British Columbia, an average of 3,868 jobs a month. The 7.5 percent British Columbia unemployment rate is down 7.3 percentage points from September 1984.

Dorset Acid Rain Report

The following report on precipitation events was recorded at the Ministry of Environment acid rain testing station in Dorset and compiled by Environment Canada.

This report covers the period of June 10 to June 16, 1990.

June 10, 7 mm rain, 4.3 pH, from North Eastern and Central Ontario.

June 12, 1 mm rain, 3.6 pH, from Michigan and Southern Ontario.

June 14, 1 mm rain, 3.9 pH, from Northern Wisconsin, Northern Michigan and Lake Huron.

June 15, 2 mm rain, 3.9 pH, from Northern Michigan, Lake Huron, Indiana, Ohio and Southern Ontario.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 pH or less are considered dangerous. The lower the reading, the more acidic the precipitation.

ONTARIO GOVERNMENT

NOTICE

PUBLIC INSPECTION OF THE APPROVED TIMBER MANAGEMENT PLAN FOR THE MINDEN CROWN UNIT AND ANNUAL WORK SCHEDULE

The Ministry of Natural Resources has now approved the Timber Management Plan for the Crown lands of the district, shown shaded on the map below. You are invited to inspect the plan between July 4 and August 7, 1990, during normal office hours, at the Minden District Office on Highway 35 in Minden. If you have a specific area of interest, you should first call for an appointment with the plan's author, Peter Hynard (705-286-1521), to be sure that he will be there to answer your questions.

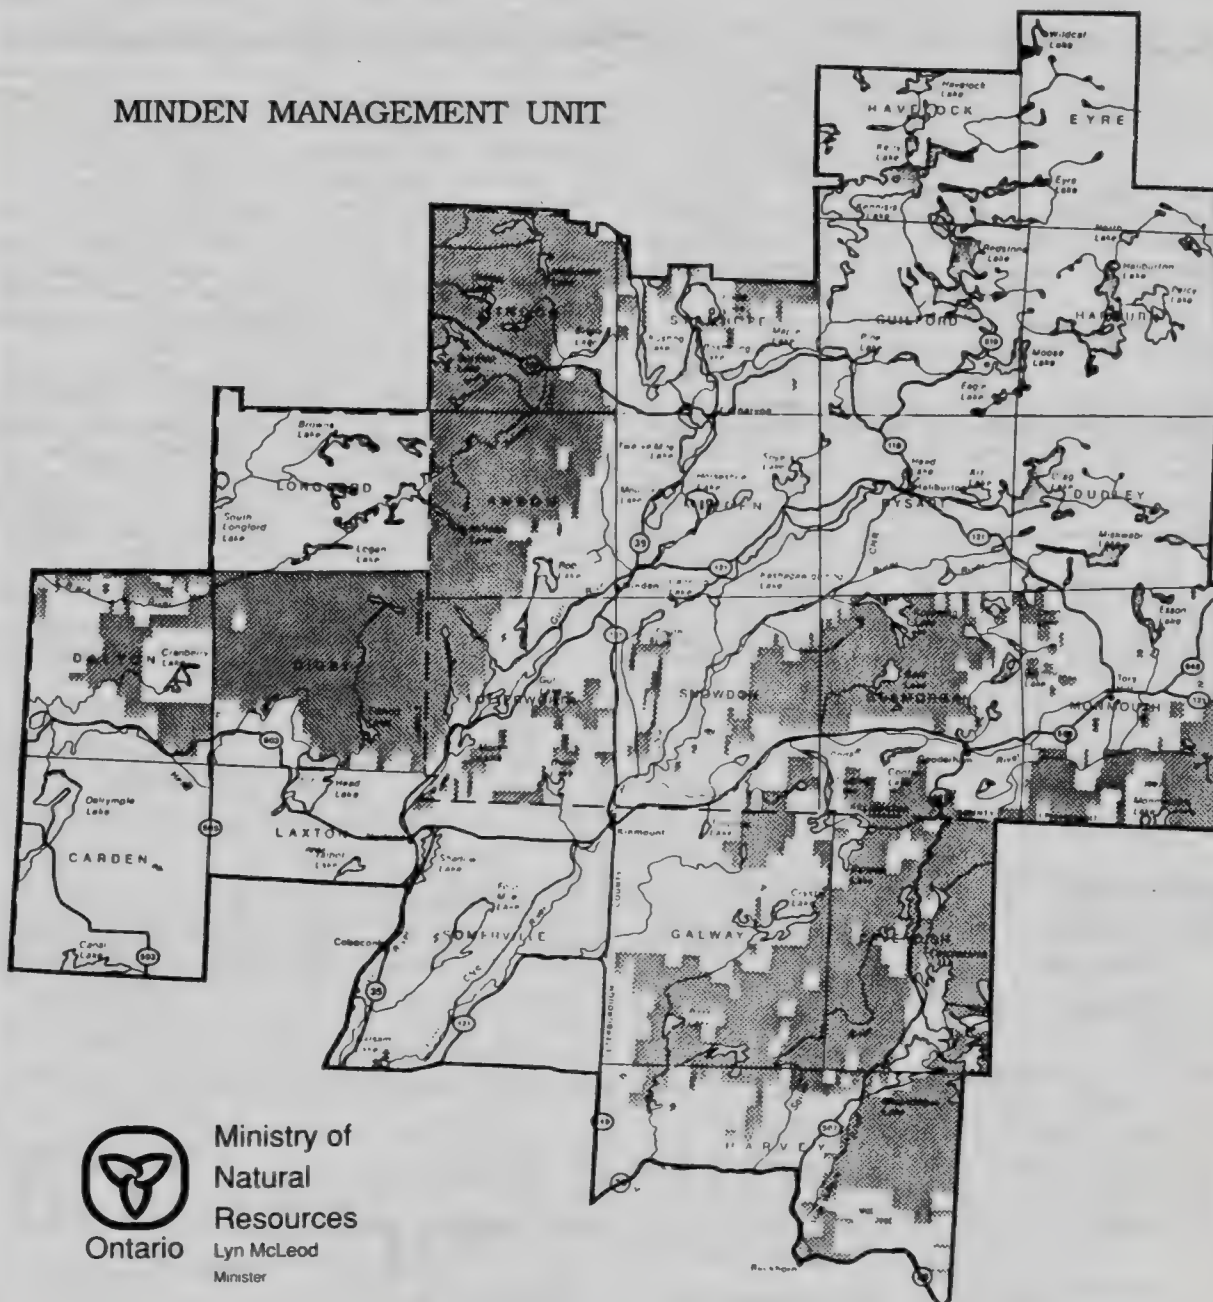

Timber management plans are prepared and implemented to ensure a sustainable and continued timber supply from Crown lands in Ontario to local forest industries, in order to provide both employment and forest products. The plan for the Minden Crown Unit will govern all forestry activities to be carried out on this area from 1990 to 1995, including logging, reforestation, stand improvement work and the construction of any new main logging roads. The plan also contains details on calculations of sustainable harvest levels and on modifications to protect other Crown land interests and environmental values.

This will be your final opportunity to inspect the approved plan prior to its implementation. Persons who have serious objections to the plan may seek an individual environmental assessment under the Environmental Assessment Act up until August 7. Persons who have no serious objections but who simply wish to inspect the plan may do so at any time throughout the year.

You may view the 1990-91 Annual Work Schedule for the Minden Crown Unit at the same time. The Annual Work Schedule outlines those questions which will be conducted during the 1990-91 operating year.

For additional information on the Timber Management Plan for the Minden Crown Unit or on any other aspect of forest management in this area, contact the Ministry of Natural Resources, Minden, Ontario K0M 2K0 (telephone 705-286-1521).

FREE

FREE: Free to a good home: I've had lots of calls about MacArthur, the 3 yr old neutered Shepherd-Husky. He's lively, fun and really smart. He sits, fetches, walks on a leash and comes on command, but he's not a companion who will sit at your feet. He needs playtime and must be outside a lot. A family with kids or a very active senior would be perfect. He doesn't heel or stay yet, so he must be walked on a leash and kept on a running line. He responds quickly to training and needs a firm attentive environment. I have lines, leash, bowls, brush and inseparable toy. Call Carol at 286-1288 days. 7Atfn.

HALIBURTON FAMILY VIOLENCE MEN'S GROUP

In Haliburton, there is a group counselling program to assist men, at no cost to them, in dealing with behaviours that physically, mentally or emotionally hurt the ones they love. This is a confidential service that does not judge or condemn, but helps you and those around you live a less troubled life. For information, referral and support, leave a message at 457-1088. tfn.

CARD OF THANKS

The Bowron Homestead Committee would like to thank all those who contributed to the success of their official opening. Sinc Nesbitt and Harvey MacIntosh for their horse-drawn wagons,
the girl guides, the ladies who prepared the strawberry short-cake and beverage, took tickets, dressed in costumes,
acted as guides in the home,
and those who helped supervise
the loading and unloading of the wagons.

We very much appreciate the assistance we received from members of the Lions' Club, the Legion, the Rotary, and the Kinsmen.

Bill Payne was a superb master of ceremonies. We thank all of Minden's heritage residents for attending the opening and our county
warden, local reeve and councillors for their attendance and support.

Join Leo Dobrzensky every Tuesday and Thursday for heritage walks, talks and activities. Children's hour every Thursday at 10 a.m. Activities for children 7-12 years of age.

CARD OF THANKS

Our sincere thanks to our friends, relatives and neighbours for their cards, calls, flowers, and many acts of kindness during the loss of our husband, father, and grandfather. Thank you to Dr. N. Bottum for your help.
Thanks to Dr. Heyes and nurses at Haliburton Hospital for their excellent care, to the wonderful people at Gord Monk's Funeral Home in Minden, and to the Rev. Jim Crichton for his kind words.
A very special thank you to Clara Sedgewick for all her help.

IN MEMORIAM

BARRY. In loving memory of a dear husband and father,
Fred, who passed away July 8, 1985.

Treasured thoughts of one so
dear
Often brings a silent tear.
Thoughts return to scenes
long past
Years roll on but memories
last.

Lovingly remembered by wife Pearl & sons Dennis & Brian and daughter Sharon.

LACEY. In loving memory of a dear husband, father, grandfather and great grandfather,
Cliff Lacey who passed away
July 6, 1987.

God saw you were getting tired,
When a cure was not to be
So he closed his arms around you
And whispered Come to me
You didn't deserve what you went through,
And so he gave you rest.
God's garden must be beautiful,
He only keeps the best.

Sadly missed by wife Jean Lacey and family.

A new spirit of giving

IN MEMORIAM

STAMP, Sidney. In loving memory of my loving husband and dear father who passed away July 11, 1985.

I remember the day I met you
And the day God made you mine.

I remember the day I lost you
And I will to the end of time.
Among my tears and heart-
aches

One thing makes me glad.

That you chose me to share with you

Those precious two years we had.

Your loving wife and children.

al Donations to the Cancer Society or Haliburton VON would be appreciated.

In loving memory of my dad Steve Kuni

Poppa:

Every little girl grows up wanting to be a princess.
I was very lucky, I was.
Every home you owned, you made my palace.
I was a very lucky girl, I never wanted for anything.
No one else knows, you were Captain Invincible.
No one else knows, you were Tarzan.
No one else knows, you fought World War II all by yourself.
No one else knows, you tripped Santa when he didn't leave enough.
You see, you weren't their Daddy.
You were all the super heroes rolled into one.
But most of all, you loved me, and I loved you.
Most people will feel sorry for me because you are gone.
I am just happy that I was so lucky you were here.
You always kept me on my toes, and always will.
I will mourn you, but I will never miss you because
You will always be with me, always.
You left, with more dignity and class than most men can only dream of.
They made one man mightier than you, and they crucified him.
I can only hope to raise my son as well as you've raised your children.
I can only hope he will love and respect me as I love and respect you.
I love you and will live on for the rest of my life.
You see Daddy, no one else knows.

I love you Poppa Forever, Kim
